Last Bid Is To Be Made

Lewis May Try to Get Docks Hold

Bradley Might Visit Mines Union Leader in Washington; Seems Well-Timed

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—John L. Lewis reportedly promised full support today to the International Longshoremen's Assn. (ILA) in what may be a developing bid to become labor chief of the New York waterfront.

Capt. William V. Bradley, president of the ILA which the AFL ousted on grounds it was crime ridden, had an hour's conference with Lewis and then told reporters:

1. "Our financial worries are over."

2. Lewis is "very much" supporting the ILA union in a crucial government election tomorrow and Wednesday which pits it against a new AFL longshoremen's group.

The poll was ordered by the National Labor Relations Board to determine which of the rival unions the approximately 25,000 New York harbor dock workers want as their bargaining agent.

Word Is Passed Around

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—Miners union president John L. Lewis may be readying an open bid today to become new labor chief of the turbulent New York waterfront.

It was reliably reported that Capt. William Bradley, newly-chosen president of the allegedly crime-ridden International Longshoremen's Assn. (ILA) was due here from New York to visit Lewis.

Bradley's visit appeared obviously timed for its effect on the balloting tomorrow in a National Labor Relations Board election between the ILA and a new AFL longshoremen's union.

Crucial Showdown

It's a crucial election showdown between the old ILA, ousted by the AFL, and the new union which the AFL formed only a few months ago, saying its efforts to force a cleanup had failed. Crime probers have accused the old ILA of harboring criminals and a number of its officials have been indicted.

There seems little doubt that Lewis has been working quietly but persistently in behalf of the

UN Plea Is Ready; Hope Abandoned by Far East Leader

Panmunjom, Dec. 21 (AP)—The UN Command today prepared a last-minute broadcast appeal to 22 American war prisoners who stayed with the Communists, even as the allied Far East commander indicated hope has been abandoned that any of them will return home.

The Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission announced it had approved an allied request to broadcast to the prisoners Wednesday — hours before the deadline for explanations to balky war prisoners.

The allies staked their hopes of winning back prisoners on the broadcast and a 12-page letter addressed to each man as chances for face-to-face interviews all but vanished in a welter of last minute delays.

Best Red Score Made

The Communists resumed their long-delayed explanation program Monday and chalked up their best score to date.

Red members of the Miliatry Armistice Commission pressed again for an extension of the time for interviews beyond Dec. 23 during a 2½-hour meeting Monday afternoon. But the UN Command promptly rejected the request.

Gen. John E. Hull, U. S. Far East commander, told newsmen in Seoul that Americans in neutral custody have had both time and opportunity to change their minds. He indicated the allies have given up hope that any will return home.

The broadcast and the letter appeared to be the allies' only chance of contacting the prisoners before the Wednesday midnight deadline.

The Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission ruled that the POWs must agree to accept the letter from an allied explanation team. Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the commission, said he would get the Americans' answer Tuesday.

While Prospects Dim

While prospects dimmed for the allied campaign to change the minds of balky war prisoners, the Reds won back 33 of 250 Chinese captives as interviews were resumed after a 34-day stalemate.

This not only was the greatest number of prisoners the Communists have won back in a single day, but was almost triple their best previous record percentagewise.

The previous records were set Oct. 31 when 21 of 459 North Koreans—4.6 per cent—elected to return to Communist rule. The best previous record with Chinese prisoners was far below this—10 won back out of 430 interviewed Oct. 17, a percentage of only 2.4.

In eight days of interviews the Communists have talked to 2,681 prisoners and have won back 104 or 3.9 per cent.

Compound B3, from which the prisoners were drawn Monday, appeared unusually docile. The prisoners agreed readily to permit interviews with just half each day — something no other compound has done. The second 250 prisoners will go before Red explainers Tuesday.

Communist refusal to interview entire 500-man compounds in a single day precipitated the long suspension of explanations.

No Violence Shown

A few prisoners cursed and spat at the persuaders Monday, but there was none of the violence which marked earlier explanation sessions.

Gen. Hull told newsmen in Seoul he is interested only in being certain that the American prisoners have freedom to choose their future.

"The thing that we have stood for always has been freedom of choice," he said.

Hull added that he flew to Ko-

Five Prison Fugitives Are Sought by Detroit Police

Eight Behind Bars in Penitentiary at Jackson —One of Biggest Hunts

Detroit, Dec. 21 (AP)—The last five of 13 Southern Michigan Prison fugitives—two murderers, a kidnaper, a robber and a burglar—were believed holed up somewhere in Detroit today, waiting for an intensive manhunt to slacken.

The other eight who burrowed out of the world's largest walled prison with them Saturday night were back behind bars. Seven of them were captured within hours after the spectacular break from the penitentiary at Jackson. Another, cold and hungry, gave up there last night. Jackson is 80 miles west of Detroit.

A complete lack of leads for some 24 hours after they last were seen in Detroit's northwest section convinced police that the remaining five were laying low for the time being.

In an effort to rout them, several hundred city and state police combed the vast Detroit residential area where the fugitives ditched their stolen Cadillac and released unharmed two women hostages taken along on a wild all-night ride. It was one of Michigan's biggest manhunts.

Among Five

Among the five are Edward J. Emrick, 43, and Roman Usiondek, 37, both convicted Detroit murderers; David B. Bousha, 28, doing 5 to 10 years for kidnaping in Crawford county and 3 to 6 years for a previous escape; Virgil Lane, 27, serving 10 to 20 years for armed robbery in Detroit, and Robert Dowling, 33, serving 1 to 15 years for breaking and entering in Detroit.

The eight captured prisoners were confined in southern Michigan's notorious cell block 15, which hardened convicts turned into a lawless fortress during an April, 1952, riot and mutiny. One inmate was killed in that uprising and damage exceeded a million dollars. Another smaller scale riot was staged later that year.

Particularly since those incidents, the huge Jackson institution has been a storm-center of controversy as to whether 5,000 prisoners should be housed in one place.

The latest fugitive returned to safe-keeping was Harold Rosa, 25, serving 4 to 15 years from Saginaw for breaking and entering. He was found hiding in the outside basement stairway of a downtown store in Jackson last night.

"Come and get me," Rosa told Patrolman Lindell Miller of the Jackson City police.

Cut Through Grates

The 13 found freedom by cutting through three steel grates of an underground sewer with an acetylene torch. Where they got the torch and the oxygen to operate it was the subject of an immediate investigation by Warden William H. Bannan.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams ordered Bannan and acting corrections director Gus Harrison to "get to the bottom of this." He said their report will be made public.

Deputy Warden Charles Cahill said he believed the torch was obtained from one of the prison industries. The oxygen, he said, could have come from a construction company's supply stored inside the prison walls.

Out of the filthy drain tunnel, the 13 were 250 feet outside the high prison walls.

Their first move was to converge on the home of Glenn Milliman, 28-year-old auto salesman and former prison guard. Threatening Milliman and his wife with knives and clubs, the fleeing felons ransacked the house, stole clothing, money and a gun and fled in Milliman's car.

A short time later the 13 split up. Six of them stayed in the Milliman car, only to crash in it while attempting to run a state police blackade near Napoleon, 12 miles southeast of the prison.

Monaghan Named 'Czar' of Racing

New York Police Leader Also Is 4th Member of Probe Group

New York, Dec. 21 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey today named New York city Police Commissioner George P. Monaghan as "czar" of state harness racing to "rule it with an iron hand."

Dewey also named Monaghan as a fourth member of the Moreland Act Commission now investigating harness racing abuses. Monaghan's appointment to the commission is effective Jan. 1.

The governor said Monaghan at the moment will have no other title than the euhpemism "czar," pending authorization of the post by legislation. Dewey said he hopes this legislation will be passed some time in February.

Family Is Wiped Out

Chicago, Dec. 21 (AP)—A family of seven was wiped out by an automobile-train collision at a Soo Line crossing near suburban Wheeling Sunday night. Killed in the crash were Fred Galle, 37-year-old Cary, Ill., laborer; his wife, Violet, 33, and their children, Evelyn, 10, John, 8, Elaine, 6, and Carol Ann, 1. A 12-year-old daughter, Audrey, died several hours later of injuries including a skull fracture.

Morse Gives View

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—Sen. Morse (Ind.-Ore.) says congressional investigations should not be halted but they ought to be bound by stricter rules. "The real abuse is the abuse of procedure," he told radio-TV questioners (NBC, "Youth Wants to Know") last night. He said that is why he's sponsoring a bill to set up a mandatory code for investigating committees.

McCardle Is Recovering

Commissioner of Jurors Frank McCardle is reported recovering at Mercy Hospital, Miami, Florida, where he was taken several days ago following a heart attack.

Free World Shipments Are Down for Communist China

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—U. S. figures show free world shipments to Communist China on the downgrade in the second half of this year.

Foreign Aid-Commerce Department statistics estimate exports to Red China from non-Communist nations at $18,500,000 in July and $19,300,000 in August. The monthly average in the first half of the year was $27,100,000.

Government sources think figures will show a decline in free world-Red China trade for the entire latter half of 1953. One reason is the probable end of iron and steel shipments from France and West Germany, which Commerce Department estimates put at more than two million dollars a month beween January and June.

Even more important is the decline of Communist Chinese buying from the British colony of Hong Kong, their most important trading partner in the free world.

Hong Kong's sales averaged more than 10 million dollars a month in the early part of the year. The July-October figures ran less than half that.

The recent decline is laid to a slackening of Chinese demand for antibiotics, perhaps because of the end of fighting in Korea.

Britain itself ranked fifth in shipments to Red China for the first half of 1953. British experts think the figure for the whole year will reach about $17,400,000, most of it in wool, chemicals, textiles and textile machinery.

U. S. officials were worried about the French and German steel shipments, which increased last year and climbed even faster

Soviets to Join In Secret Talks On Atomic Pool

Red Government Seeks More Data Concerning Dec. 8 Meeting on Proposal

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—The White House announced today that Soviet Russia has agreed to join the United States in secret negotiations on President Eisenhower's proposal for an international atomic pool.

Murray Snyder, assistant presidential press secretary told newsmen the Russian government also has asked the U. S. for additional information on Eisenhower's Dec. 8 plan.

Bohlen Gets Note

Snyder declined to provide more information on the Soviet note, which Moscow radio said had been handed to American Ambassador Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen in Moscow today.

In outlining his plan to the United Nations General Assembly, Eisenhower proposed that Russia join with the United States and other nations possessing atomic materials in creating an international atomic energy agency for peaceful development.

Dangers Emphasized

London, Dec. 21 (AP)—Soviet Russia said today President Eisenhower "quite justifiably" had emphasized the world dangers unless governments adopt measures against the race in atomic armaments.

Moscow radio broadcast an official Soviet government statement on President Eisenhower's recent United Nations speech proposing a world atomic pool for peaceful uses.

The statement, handed to U. S. Ambassador Charles Bohlen in Moscow by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov said:

"Quite justifiably the U. S. President emphasized the danger for the peoples of the world of the situation which is being created unless governments adopt measures against the race in atomic armaments . . ."

Farmer Denies Arson Guilt

Police Say He Admitted Setting Fire; Calls It Accidental

Newton, N. J., Dec. 21 (AP)—A 34-year-old dairy farmer pleaded innocent today to a charge of arson in the $50,000 fire that destroyed a neighbor's barn.

The farmer, Samuel B. Smith of Germany Flats Red, Lafayette township, was held in $1,000 bail by Sussex County Judge Marshal Hunt pending action of the grand jury.

The plea of innocent was entered by Smith's attorney, Peter Friedman.

Police placed the arson charge against Smith after they said he admitted accidentally setting the fire which destroyed the barn, 50 tons of hay and some farm machinery belonging to his neighbor, George F. Meyer of Andover township.

Police quoted Smith as saying he went into the barn Thursday night, lit a match and accidentally set the barn ablaze. Then, police said, he told of closing the barn doors and driving off in his red truck.

Meyer said he recognized the truck and notified state police, who arrested Smith in a diner about five miles away.

Smith also was questioned concerning five other recent barn fires in the area, police said.

French Vote Is In 10th Round

Secrecy Is Criticized On Parleys

Eisenhower's Program Must Show Merits to Gain Support, Some Democrats Claim

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—Several Democratic senators said today that what President Eisenhower calls his sound, progressive program will have to convince Democrats in Congress of its merits, if it is to get their support.

While the Democratic comment included predictions that his proposals would not automatically be opposed on party lines, there were complaints about the exclusively Republican invitation list to last week's White House conferences on the legislative program.

Some Democrats criticized what they said was secrecy maintained about the outcome of the conferences. The President announced the scope of the discussions, but apparently is reserving most details for his nationwide broadcast Jan. 4 and State of the Union message to Congress Jan. 7. He has said he plans to work on those late this week.

Some of his advisers have suggested a stripped down program, limited to a few vital issues.

Whether or not this course is followed, Sen. Humphrey (D.-Minn.) predicted Eisenhower may encounter more trouble within his own party than from Democrats on some proposals.

Humphrey said in an interview he thought there would be more division among Republicans than among Democrats on foreign policy, state-federal relationships and foreign trade.

Sen. Gore (D.-Tenn.), in a separate interview, said of the Eisenhower legislative program as it has been outlined so far:

Sees Little Progress

"It doesn't seem to have a very large dynamo and it doesn't look like it is going to progress very far."

Sen. Monroney (D.-Okla.) said in an interview "it will be a good trick if the Republicans can cut defense expenditures and have stronger defense, if they can cut taxes and still balance the budget and if they can expand social security while freezing the payments."

Appearing last night on a Dumont television program, Monroney joined Sen. Kefauver (D.-Tenn.) in criticism of the administration for not including Democrats in the talks on legislative plans and for what Monroney called refusal of Republican leaders to make public the proposals they worked out.

Criticizes Sessions

Monroney said announcements made after the sessions gave the impression of "press agentry" and a "snow job" on the public.

Sen. Duff (R.-Pa.) and Rep. Hope (R.-Kan.) on the same program praised the Republican proposals as "liberal and constructive."

In a final announcement on the legislative discussions Saturday, Eisenhower said the program will be based on the 1952 Republican platform.

He said the test of foreign policy would be "does it advance the interests of America?"

The domestic program, he continued, would assure the people

No Word Is Received Of Crash Survivors

London, Dec. 21 (AP) — A ground rescue team was believed today to have reached the wreckage of a U. S. Navy Neptune bomber which crashed Thursday on a southern Iceland glacier but no word was heard here whether any of the nine men aboard were still alive.

The rescuers, fighting their way through the worst Iceland blizzard this winter, last reported by radio yesterday that they were 1½ miles from the crash, 110 miles southeast of Reykjavik. They had been expected to reach the plane yesterday afternoon.

The ground team's report was picked up by a rescue plane which was a sister ship of the crashed twin-engine P2V and from the same outfit at Keflavik air field in Iceland.

Red Propaganda Is Building Up Hate Against L. P. Beria

Fallen Soviet Police Head May Be Tried in Court Posthumously; Trial Held in Absence

By TOM WHITNEY
(AP Foreign Correspondent who spent nine years in the Soviet Union)

The Soviet propaganda machine is doing its utmost hour after hour to whip the Russian people into a frenzy of hate against Lavrnti P. Beria as the probable prelude to the official announcement that he has been shot.

Beria and his six alleged accomplices may already be dead.

End Approaching

Dispatches since Saturday show an intense nationwide campaign of denunciation and vilification of Beria has been going all over the U.S.S.R. At all these meetings—organized and directed, of course, from Moscow—speakers demanded the death sentence for the "criminal." Thus the end of the Beria case was approaching.

But the real question was whether the fallen Soviet police chief was not in fact being tried posthumously.

The law under which his trial was ordered provides a procedure which might mean that not even the judges of the Supreme Court passing sentence on Beria and his associates would know actually whether he was still living. This trial procedure has the defendants tried in their absence and in secret.

Guilt Was Vital

Why did the Soviet government announce this procedure for his trial if Beria and the other defendants were still alive? One of the purposes of the revival of the Beria case nearly six months

Laniel Is Down on 9th Ballot

Premier Was Only 22 Votes Short on Eighth Test — Montel Is in Race

Versailles, France, Dec 21 (AP)—The French Parliament failed again today to elect a president of the Republic. It was the ninth ballot taken since last Thursday.

Premier Joseph Laniel, a wealthy industrialist and the top contender, got 413 votes—a drop of 17 votes from the eighth ballot.

His Socialist opponent, Marcel-Edmond Naegelen, who has Communist support, got 365—a drop of 16 votes. Pierre Montel, who emerged as a last minute candidate, received 103 votes. Montel, 57, is a member of Laniel's Independent party from Lyon.

22 Votes Short

Laniel was only 22 votes short of victory on the eighth ballot in the Peoples' Assembly Hall of the Old Palace of French Kings, where the national assembly deputies and senators have been trying to name a new president.

The number needed to elect on the ninth ballot—a majority of the votes cast—was 455. Thus Laniel who has led almost all the way, was 42 votes short today.

The Legislators decided to begin the 10th ballot at 8:30 p. m., (2:30 p. m. EST). Each one takes about three or four hours.

No other French presidential election had ever required more than two ballots. The protracted voting this time resulted from a sharp split, nearly down the political middle, in the Parliament. The split promised endless future troubles in the National Assembly at a time of crisis on crisis.

Leaders Shocked

Parliamentary leaders grew increasingly shocked at the bitter nature of the showdown battle.

Laniel's support came almost entirely from the conservative ranks—landholders, wealthy industrialists and rightist Catholics.

Behind Naegelen was an almost solid phalanx of Socialists and Communists, representing nearly all of France's working population.

Dangling unhappily between were the members whose votes could swing in either direction to name the president.

Observers figured the grave cleavage would be carried over into the National Assembly, which in the next months must send a delegation to the Big Four conference in Berlin, agree on a new government after the president takes office on Jan. 17, ratify or reject the bitterly controversial European army treaty, rework France's economy and perhaps revise the constitution.

Votes Picked Up

Both Laniel and Naegelen picked up votes on the eighth ballot. The premier's count rose from 407 on the seventh vote to 430, while the Socialist's increased from 303 to 381.

There were half a dozen partial explanations for the deadlock.

Because of Laniel's only lukewarm support for the European army plan to pool the forces of France, West Germany, Belgium, The Netherlands, Italy and Luxembourg, many supporters of the project opposed him.

Naegelen drew the support of the Reds and others opposed to the army idea because he too doesn't want the European army. But the Red backing made the anti-Communists Socialists extremely unhappy.

Many of the anti-clerical middle-road Radical Socialists opposed the premier because they saw too much Catholic Church influence lined up beside him. The

Message to Congress Will Predict Prosperity in '54

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—President Eisenhower will forecast continued prosperity in 1954 when he sends his annual economic message to Congress in January, his aides say.

But they also expect him to outline the defense his administration plans to throw up against any possible recession.

The President's Council of Economic Advisors has been working up a stabilization program since last spring.

It calls for four main anti-depression steps, ranging from federal action to encourage maintenance of high production and employment down to a federal public works program that would be called into play only in a dire economic emergency.

If the public works project are needed, officials say, only those that would contribute to the country's long-range productivity and economic growth would be built.

The phases in the anti-depression program:

1. Strengthening of some of the "built-in stabilizers" against deflation: Social Security extension, broader unemployment compensation coverage, increase in the minimum wage from 75 cents an hour. Some immediate action is anticipated in this field. Continued high farm price supports also might come under this heading, if Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson adopt that policy.

2. Measures to give consumers and business firms spending incentives: Lowering of interest rates, encouraging business investment by Federal Reserve and Treasury moves affecting bank

PITCHING HORSESHOES

By BILLY ROSE

By BILLY ROSE
Now Is the Time for All Good Men

During the past seven years I've written over a thousand columns—about a million words—and I have never used one of these words to ask anybody to write or wire his congressman about anything.

Today, however, I'm going to urge my readers—and their sisters, cousins and aunts—to get in touch with their senators and representatives on behalf of a Philippine woman named Josefina Guerrero who wants to become a citizen of the United States.

Who is Josefina Guerrero? Well, if you haven't already read it in one of the national magazines, here's her story. . . .

In 1941 Josefina, called "Joey" by her friends, was 23 years old, married to a medical student in Manila, and mother of a two-year-old daughter named Cynthia. One day her doctor noticed a strange blotch on her body and, after a series of tests, told her she had leprosy and advised her to leave her home at once.

Joey packed and left that night.

When the Japs landed in Manilia in 1942, they took over the hospital in which Joey was being treated and turned her and the other patients out into the street. A few days later she was attacked by two drunken Japanese soldiers, but beat them off with such frenzy that a member of the Philippine underground who witnessed the incident asked if she'd like to join up.

For the next two years, despite her aching head and blotchy skin, Joey smuggled in food and medicine to American internees and prisoners of war, and smuggled out military information which the guerrillas in the hills radioed to Australia.

When our troops landed on Leyte, it was Joey who mapped the Japanese fortifications on the Manila waterfront and their anti-aircraft batteries along Dewey Boulevard. These maps she managed to ge through to her underground contacts by concealing them in hollowed-out apples and oranges. She was, of course, stopped many times by Japanese sentries, but when they saw her lacerated face and swollen hands they drew back in fear and let her pass.

Early in 1945 when the 37th Infantry Division was blasting its way into Manila, Joey took on her most dangerous job. The Japanese had mined and booby-trapped an area through which the Allied forces had to pass and a detailed map of the danger spots had to be delivered to division headquarters 40 miles north of the capital. Joey volunteered to walk the 40 miles through the Japanese lines.

En route, time after time, the Japanese questioned her, but her mauled face was her passport. Twice Joey was arrested but, thanks to her sores, got away. And when she finally reached American headquarters, the map taped between her shoulder blades, she was too sick to eat the pancakes they made for her.

Shortly after the armistice, the U. S. War Department awarded Joey the Medal of Freedom with silver palm, one of the highest decorations it can bestow on an alien. In 1948 she received something even more important to her—a temporary visa to enter the United States, and permission to go to the Leprosarium at Carville, Louisiana.

At Carville, Joey was treated with the new sulfone drugs and, as of today, the disease is completely arrested in her. Her head no longer aches, she can eat normally again, and there are only a few scars left on her face.

Early this year the U. S. Immigration Service informed Joey that her visa had expired and she would have to be deported. The officials were sympathetic but—well, the law was the law.

Moved by her story, Representative James H. Morrison of Louisiana introduced a bill to grant her citizenship, and persuaded the immigration authorities to let her remain until the measure came up. Unfortunately, the bill died in committee. However, it will be introduced again by the Louisiana legislator when Congress convenes next month, and a similar bill, I understand, will be submitted to the Senate. So far, so good—but bills, even the best of them, have a way of getting lost on Capitol Hill.

This is where you and I come in.

As soon as I have finished this piece, I'm going to wire Senators Ives and Lehman, and Congressman Coudert who represents my district in New York.

And, at the risk of sounding like a professional do-gooder, I urge you to give Joey the break she rates and do a bit of wiring or writing yourself. In your own words or mine, here's what I'd suggest you say:

"I think Josefina Guerrero, one of our top spies in the war against Japan, should be permitted to remain in the United States. Please do your best to expedite the bill introduced by Rep. James H. Morrison of Louisiana, which will come before the Judiciary Committee when Congress convenes."

THE WITNESS—Aaron Coleman, a key witness in Sen. Joseph McCarthy's investigation about security risks at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., may face further investigation. The subcommittee plans to send testimony in the case to the Justice Department with a recommendation for grand jury perjury action against the dismissed radar expert. Coleman has testified under oath that he is not a member of the Communist Party.

ALL MEN'S DESIRING

Now that the remarkable and startling speech of President Eisenhower proposing the atomic pool has had a few days to simmer down in people's minds, the reasons for its amazing and arousing effect begin to clear.

It was months in the making. Churchill of Britain, Laniel of France had seen and approved it. It was met in the United Nations with extraordinary applause. Members of differing Republican factions agreed on it. Democrats greeted it with relief and approbation. Nations far away in space and history from our own welcomed it. The Russians, after their first negative—mere reflex action—began to think about it and have said they would consider it carefully. They offer a glimmer of something which may not be a complete denial.

This unanimous approval and relief spring from the fact that the President has given voice to the hope of everyone in the whole world. He starts not with a complex plan subject to all sorts of disagreements about details, but with a seed planted in the hearts of men. If, he says in effect, instead of competing in this awful cruelty, we begin in a small way to cooperate for the good of all, we may get somewhere. It is this voicing of the universal longing which makes it great.

Peace is not the absence of war; peace is the presence of justice. And justice needs a strong backbone. It must be implemented with means to enforce it. But strength to enforce justice is different from force to impose injustice.

Now, when so many people in the world wait with joy the birthday of the Prince of Peace, is a good time for all souls to unite in prayer, in hope, in loving-kindness to further the sprouting of the seed.

It will take long for the seed to become a tree. It will need tolerance, imagination, compassion, justice. There will be failures, backslidings, obstacles. But with determination strengthening hope, growth can proceed.

NEW GLOBAL RECORD

The old record for round the world travel on commercial airlines has been shattered by a 25-year-old woman who works for an advertising agency and travel bureau. She circled the globe in 90 hours and 59 minutes breaking the mark of 99 hours and 16 minutes set last summer.

The record breaking attracted relatively little publicity. There was a time when it might have rated first page coverage in every newspaper in the country. But records are broken every day in this age and we have come to be matter of fact about new ones. The record should serve, however, as another reminder of how small the world is getting. The days when any area could consider itself an isolated, self-sufficient region are long gone.

One enterprising house builder gives buyers their choice of a new car or swimming pool as an extra feature. It sounds like something for nothing, but it is very likely that the present-day prices safely include the trimming.

JET PROPULSION STUDY

The Guggenheim Foundation will grant $36,000 in fellowships next year to outstanding people who want to take graduate training in jet propulsion and rocket engineering. Those selected for the fellowships will study at one of the Daniel and Florence Guggenheim Jet Propulsion Centers at Princeton University and the California Institute of Technology.

The announcement by the Foundation says that the object of the grants is to train people for basic research and leadership in the rocket and jet propulsion field. This is a far-sighted viewpoint. Basic research is related to progress as gasoline is to an automobile. Scientists who do basic research seek knowledge which is later put to use by engineers and technicians.

Rockets and jet propelled planes will play an increasingly more important role in our national progress and prosperity. The Guggenheim Foundation grant is particularly appropriate this year, the fiftieth anniversary of the first powered flight by the Wright brothers.

THE FIFTH AMENDMENT

Few articles in our Constitution have been as unfittingly used by witnesses before Congressional committees as the Fifth Amendment. Action, under it, has become so vulgar that one witness did not even trouble to plead. He shouted, "Fifth;" "Fifth!" "Fifth!"

The Fifth Amendment reads:

"No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a Grand Jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the Militia, when in actual service in time of war or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation."

Obviously this amendment involves a number of rights. In the instances before current Congressional committees, only one clause is made to apply, namely:

". . . nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself. . . ."

This clause can only be applied in a matter involving a criminal case If the statute of limitations has run, there is no criminal case and therefore the Amendment does not apply. It is to be presumed therefore that whenever a witness pleads under the Fifth Amendment, he knows that his conduct has been such that, if discovered, he could be prosecuted for a crime. In many instances, this crime could be perjury.

In Robertson vs. Baldwin it was held that if the witness benefited by the statute of limitations (lapse of time), a pardon, or a statutory enactment, he could not also benefit by the Fifth Amendment. In a word, this right can only be used when it is clear that a person may actually incriminate himself in a punishable crime. Many witnesses before Congressional committees are therefore using this plea incorrectly and could be held in contempt, because they are withholding information for which they cannot be punished, unless it is perjury.

It has been claimed that the Fifth Amendment protects the innocent as well as the guilty. This is nonsense. The entire Amendment deals only with infamous crimes. In Ex parte Wilson (114 U. S. 417, 426 (1885)), it is made clear that the purpose of the Amendment was to limit the powers of the legislature as well as the prosecuting officers of the United States in criminal matters; no declaration of Congress that a crime is infamous is needed to secure or competent to defeat the Constitutional safeguard.

In a word, the Amendment sets out to safeguard a person from testifying against himself in a criminal matter for which he can be punished. Therefore, if no crime has been committed, the Amendment does not apply. The innocent are never involved in its safeguards, because the innocent cannot be punished for a crime which they have not committed. If falsely accused, the innocent can testify in their own defense.

This privilege may be waived at discretion, but once it has been waived, the witness must make full disclosure. The question then arises whether an employe of the Government of the United States may not waive the privilege of self-incrimination in advance of obtaining employment by the government in sensitive work. He could not be deprived of this Constitutional right by an act of Congress, but employment by the United States is a privilege and not a right and the Government can withhold employment without explanation. It is under no compulsion to employ anyone, although the Civil Service and the Veterans Preference Acts do provide safeguards for those already employed.

No witness before a Congressional committee is being accused of a crime. Only a Grand Jury can do that. The witness is interrogated for information about conditions in the country, of which it is believed that he possesses knowledge. He may or may not be involved personally in these matters. If he pleads the Fifth Amendment, in advance of a Grand Jury proceedings, it must be assumed that he has knowledge that he has been involved in a crime for which a Grand Jury could indict him.

No act of Congress is necessary to make such a person unemployable by the government. It could be done by Executive fiat.

That Body of Yours

SECOND OR PERMANENT TEETH

As youngsters it was not unusual to see playmates who had lost their front teeth from an accident or because the teeth dropped out to make room for the second or permanent teeth. Because the permanent teeth came in due time, parents did not worry about the loss of the first or baby teeth.

What about the permanent teeth? When the front permanent teeth are lost by accident it is an entirely different matter, a serious matter, in fact. When the grinders (the bicuspid and tricuspid—molar teeth) are lost, there is little or no chewing of food and mixing of the saliva (the digestive juice of the mouth) to prepare the food for further digestion in the stomach and small intestine. However, the loss of the front (incisor) teeth means that the individual loses his sharp or cutting teeth to bite his food. Also, the loss of these front permanent teeth means that his face is disfigured and he may develop an inferiority complex until he gets a substitute denture.

What many of us do not know, or have forgotten, is that these permanent front teeth, if knocked out, can sometimes be replanted and settled firmly in their sockets again.

In Dental Digest, Drs. John I. Ingle and Pierre Dow report the case of a twelve-year-old boy who had two center front teeth knocked out in a play field accident. He was immediatedly referred by his dentist to the endodontic clinic of the University of Washington School of Dentistry. X-rays showed no fracture of the bony sockets.

The father of the patient had kept the two teeth in his coat pocket; both teeth were covered with lint and tobacco when presented at the clinic; both teeth had started to decay and one tooth was chipped on its surface.

"In preparing these teeth for replantation, the following measures were completed:

1.—The teeth were immersed for 15 minutes in a glass cup containing aqueous Zephirin solution.

2.—One of the central teeth was removed from the solution and held in a Zephirin-soaked 2-by-2-inch gauze sponge, and the underlying membrane was removed by scraping with a knife.

3.—While continuing to hold the root of the tooth in a sponge, the treatment is begun."

As there are up to 20 more steps taken, including a splint left in for a couple of days, the whole method of treatment cannot be discussed in this one article. However, at the end of six days the entire area is completely healed and there is firm reattachment of the gums to the teeth.

It is estimated that more people suffer with constipation than are free of it. At Least Until the Holiday Season Is Over

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington (NEA)—The wife of Samir Souki, assistant press counselor of the Egyptian embassy, brought the family cook from Cairo with her for Mr. Souki's Washington tour of duty, which is now coming to an end.

The Egyptian cook loved it, and the Soukis noticed that the native dishes which she prepared seemed to taste better here than they did at home.

When the Soukis mentioned this to her, she explained. Here she had a dishwasher and garbage grinder to do her dirty work. She did not have to spend so much time tending the fire, and she could give more attention to her cooking. The oriental vegetables which she was able to get from the Syrian groceries here seemed to be fresher and cleaner.

The cook's delight in the American groceries reached their height when Mr. Souki came home one night carrying a carton of Coca-Cola. The Egyptian woman's face registered complete amazement and her eyes gleamed.

"Do you mean," she asked in apparent disbelief — "Do you mean they have Coca-Cola here, too?"

Field Day At USIA

Voice of America and U. S. Information Agency really went to town on the foreign-policy statements of President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, defending America's free and independent allies and rejecting the "get-tougher" policies of Senator McCarthy.

Texts of the statements by the two American leaders were broadcast and distributed for foreign publication everywhere. Nothing as good as this to explain the American position to foreign critics of U. S. policies had come to hand in a long time.

Some of the USIA personnel who had been McCarthied took particular delight in handling it. They leaned over backward to avoid making any criticisms of the senator personally, or of his policies. The emphasis was just put on the positive nature of the President's and the secretary's statements.

USIA had another field day in handling President Eisenhower's UN speech outlining his new peacetime atomic energy development plan. This was great stuff to emphasize U. S. peaceful intentions in many countries where Communist propaganda has been trying to put over the idea that "warmongering American imperialists" were intent on atom-bombing the earth.

Patent-Office Fun

U. S. Patent Office experts have been making a number of talks to engineering and scientific groups to explain the patent laws and how to go about getting a patent. To show what a patent looks like, they have rigged up a large-scale sample, complete with the legal blue ribbon and seal.

Just to inject a little fun into the proceedings, this sample patent has been made out for a new lock. The inventor is listed as "Jesse James, of Joplin, Mo." The paper then shows that the inventor has assigned his patent to "Tinker-Proof Lock Co. of Alcatraz, Calif."

White House Tree

The White House Christmas tree is due for a face-lifting this year—1500 new light bulbs and maybe a Nativity scene to go with it.

Although the Washington White House Christmas tree tradition started with President Coolidge in 1923, it was in President Franklin D. Roosevelt's third term that two big spruce trees were planted especially for this purpose on the south lawn of the Executive Mansion.

The committee in charge has the offer of a loan of a $4000 life-size reproduction of the manger scene. Again this year there will be Christmas carols piped across the White House lawn over a public address system, beginning on Dec. 23 when the tree is scheduled for trimming.

Traffic regulations on the use of messengers' bicycles and delivery tricycles in the Pentagon are as complicated as an automobile code.

Among other things, the rules say that messengers must dismount before entering freight elevators and remain dismounted with brakes set while the elevator is in motion. Speed of bikes in corridors must not exceed that of a brisk walk. Pedestrians have the right of way at all times.

A number must be displayed on all pedal-operated vehicles. This, the Pentagon says, is to help track down traffic violators.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

Dec. 20, 1933—Mr. and Mrs. Louis Levy, of Park street, observed their 31st wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Michael J. Graney, of Adams street, died.

The second Junior League review was held at the Broadway Theatre.

Dec. 21, 1933—A chicken dinner was given for the Rotary Boys Club at the YMCA.

The Kingston High School basketball team was edged out by Saugerties 24-23.

Snow greeted the first official day of winter here.

Dec. 20, 1943—Charles W. Walton, of Kingston, was nominated to succeed himself as secretary of the New York State Bar Association, which was scheduled to elect on Jan. 21.

A chicken coop and 75 chickens were destroyed in a fire at the rear of the Alton Stewart home on Third avenue.

Dec. 21, 1943—This was the last day of autumn and winter was scheduled to begin officially at 1:30 p. m., Dec. 22.

Robert R. Rodie submitted his resignation as a member of the local War Price and Rationing Board.

Americans Are Not Being Given Truth About U. S. Foreign Policy

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 21—Looking through the latest issue of "Foreign Affairs," the quarterly publication of the Council of Foreign Relations—an organization of prominent Americans devoted to the cause of international cooperation—one gets the impression that American foreign policy is in a terrible mess. Surveying the world scene, it becomes obvious after reading a number of articles that the American people are not being given the truth, but only a series of unrealistic pronouncements from officialdom about the "free world," allied unity and the United Nations.

"Foreign Affairs" as a publication expresses no opinions of its own but performs a service in giving forthright articles by authorities in other lands. It is apparent that what is accepted as truth in America isn't so regarded elsewhere.

Thus an article by a very important person in India who remains anonymous emphasizes the point that the United States was the aggressor in Korea and charges that the American government originally intervened in the civil war in China by protecting Formosa. The accusation is further made that the UN forces had no business crossing the 38th Parallel into North Korea and thereupon became aggressors themselves. The distinguished Indian author continues:

"The question of aggression by China seemed therefore to most Asians a doubtful point. This became clear when the resolution to brand China as an aggressor was introduced at the end of January 1951. It is strange that, though the Chinese intervention took place in October 1950, the United Nations waited until the end of January 1951 to discuss whether or not it was an aggression on the part of China. It is also significant that when the matter was put to a vote the resolution did not receive the support of India, Burma, Indonesia and other Asian countries. The Asian countries evidently did not consider that China had committed aggression.

"Though the resolution was carried, it was obvious that no great importance was attached to the charge, for otherwise, the United Nations could not have entered into negotiations with the Sino-Korean forces, for that would have been compounded with aggression and a betrayal of the principles of the United Nations. An aggressor, ex hypothesis, has to be punished, but instead of doing it, the United Nations, after deliberately branding China as an aggressor, has been equally deliberately engaged in negotiations with that government . . .

"It may sound strange to American ears, but nonetheless it is a fact that the leaders of India and Burma, and perhaps of other south Asian countries, excluding Siam, do not feel themselves threatened by communism."

To read the foregoing in the light of the hundreds of thousands of words poured out by officials of the present and preceding administrations here about "repelling aggression" in Korea and about the victories for "collective security" which cost America 140,000 casualties there it is obvious that what is being said inside America isn't shared outside.

Then there's an article by Clement Attlee, former prime minister of Great Britain, who thinks America is wrong in its relations with Red China and he, too, hints that blunders in American policy may have caused the Korean war. He says:

"It may well have been that had China been given her seat in the United Nations, the Korean war might never have been started. In dealing with Asiatic countries the matter of self-respect or 'face' is of great importance. The refusal to recognize the effective government of China affronted the self-respect of the Chinese people."

But it is even more distressing to read the article written by Walter H. Mallory executive director of the Council of Foreign Relations, who, after spending a year in Indonesia, says America is regarded there as a capitalistic country of selfish imperialism, and ulterior motive. He advises patience in dealing with a new country, and on the whole tries to be constructive in his viewpoint. It is startling, however, to find that after all the hue and cry about America rescuing nations from imperialism, and after the conspicuous way in which the diplomacy of the United States did help to wrest Indonesia from the Dutch Empire, it now appears the United States is the villain of the world. Incidentally Mr. Mallory reminds his readers that there has never been a national election in Indonesia either before or after independence was obtained in 1949.

Naturally there are Americans who seek to establish the theory that the drop in American influence abroad has been due to Senator McCarthy. That's a theme which has become an alibi for past failures by our diplomats abroad. It is apparent that the anti-American trend began steadily to develop for a variety of other reasons long before the furore over congressional inquiries. In this connection "foreign affairs" has an interesting article by Henry Wriston, president of Brown University, about the different voices in America. He tells his world-wide audience of scholars and students of foreign policy:

"Current investigations — by congressional committees — are not fundamentally different from earlier examples. Nor do they cow public opinion. Despite all the uproar about the 'terror' created by congressional investigations, I do not know anyone with something important to say which the American people ought to hear which has been silenced by the investigative procedures; many who have nothing to say pretend that the reason they do not say something significant is because of those pressures."

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Dec. 20—The same man who told me that Amtorg, the Russian purchasing corporation, was allowed to ignore a $2,000,000 income tax deficiency now tells me that a leading New Dealer got away with a similar deficiency of $500,000. My informant has access to inside information on such topics and I am convinced that he is telling the truth, with a little allowance on the figure.

The report of the field agents was simply "put to sleep," in the words of my informant. It was a complex job, involving a number of corporations and some close relatives, but the principal principal was one of our rulers who insisted on heaping billions of dollars worth of diesels, copper cable and oil refineries on the Soviet enemy for the post-war industrial development of a nation which, but for the United States, would still have an awe-struck regard for the wheel-barrow as a marvel to modern transportation.

This half-wit was willing to give until it hurt the rest of us. For a long time after the war he kept insisting that Russia was a great democracy with just a few little vagaries which called for sympathetic understanding. These included slave-labor camps which he had seen on a potenkin tour of the workers' paradise. After Korea, he came out of the ether and guessed he had misjudged matters, but for years he was a gibbering fool about Russia although the tax deficiency indicates that he never was foolish enough to pay his fair share of the cost of his folly. One of the agents who had a good, long squint at the papers burned up because there was not a dime of charity in all the returns involved.

The conduct of the Internal Revenue and the whole Treasury was absolutely rotten and ruthless under Roosevelt and Truman. Another great New Dealer once kidded a friend of mine, a covert Republican who has been hiding in various nooks of the bureaucracy as a pro-American agent keeping tabs on the Reds and other crooks, when she remarked that she had had to borrow money to pay her income tax. He said he never paid any income tax. Didn't she know that, as a government employe, she didn't actually have to pay?

No, she didn't know that. How come? Why, he said, just file a return but send no money and they can't do anything about it because the pay of a government employe can't be garnished. The Treasury could attach the property of a delinquent government employe but wouldn't bother. And this character is one of those Harvard law jobs whose chief performance for the people of the United States was to prevent the deportation of Harry Bridges.

I telephoned Coleman Andrews, the commissioner of Internal Revenue, to ask about the $500,000 deficiency. He was out of town but his press secretary said he would look into the records and see. Having done so, he called back and said he couldn't say anything either way. I said it was a damned outrage that a law written to protect the privacy of law-abiding taxpayers should be used to shield people who failed to pay and used their political position to get away with their default.

He said that was the law nevertheless. He would be guilty of a violation if he confirmed the tip which my informant had given me. This informant may be guilty of such a violation although the information came first from a retired agent of the bureau and I believe that after they tie loose from the service they are free to blow the whistle. Anyway the tip came first from a retired agent and was confirmed with some discrepancies by two men still on the job. There was a quiet scandal in the service over this deal which, by the way, was pulled off under Roosevelt. One agent said it was a hatchet job ordered by Roosevelt to make the fellow behave.

One of these friends laughed when I said the tax returns which Jimmy Roosevelt turned over to Collier's that time for publication to refute the late Alva Johnston's story of his insurance practices bore the rubber-stamp "field." If returns are stamped "field" they are supposed to be turned over to field agents for close examination for accuracy and checked against known sources of income. My friends said "go on back and take another look." So I did and what do you think I found? The 1932 return is marked "field" all right but it is also stamped "not investigated." The '33 and '35 returns are stamped "not investigated" but also stamped "reviewed." The '34 return is stamped "not investigated," and '36 and '37 are stamped "field" and nothing else.

I asked how it could be that a return stamped "field" could escape the same lint-picking, microscopic inspection that mine have had every year since 1935 when I began to crawl Henry Morgenthau for turning loose a lot of WPA disgruntled bookkeepers to harass all opponents of the Roosevelt Party. How could they stamp Jimmy's '32 and '33 returns "field" but also "not investigated?" They said that was simple. There are piles and piles of returns stamped for the "field" but someone in the office keeps shuffling certain returns to the bottom of the heaps until a couple of years have gone by and a new load of returns by enemies of the administration has accumulated. Then the returns of the princes of privilege go back into the filing cabinets.

But how could a considered report of an expert agent charging a deficiency be ignored? They thought I was simple to ask such a question. In the case of Amtorg, Franklin D. simply ruled that Amtorg was the heart and soul of our friendly relations with Russia and must not be bothered. That word went to the treasury, possibly to Harry Dexter White, and from there to internal revenue and the case was quietly gassed. The same euthanasia was worked on the $500,000 personal delinquency which I have discussed here.

I was rebuffed the same way in the case of Ben Pross who ran a racket union in the booze trade and stole bundles of money. He also unloaded some thousands of cases of black market whiskey at bootleg prices in army camps in the south as his contribution to the defeat of the Nazi beast.

He was indicted and the alcohol tax unit had him dead to rights, but a federal jury in Newark turned him loose. But I turned the heat on again when I discovered that he had bought a pretentious estate at Lake Mahopac with a racy speed-boat and a couple of cars and had drilled a new well and remodeled the joint at great expense.

The internal revenue took after the bum on the strength of that. He up and croaked before the deal was finished and they clipped the estate for a chunk. But the internal revenue won't tell us how much.

Children Have Own Resort

Chicago (AP)—If you see children studying Florida vacation folders these days, there's a reason. A new resort spot at swank Boco Ratan, Florida, caters to children only. Children's Manor offers for moppets from 4 to 12 years old a swimming pool, an outdoor roller skating rink, miniature golf course, shuffle board courts and other activities. It's the idea of Mrs. Esther M. Hecht, a Chicago registered nurse.

Mom's Tambourine

By FRANK TRIPP

This week is the last chance. "Only X shopping days to Christmas." It gives procrastinators the jitters but is sweet music to weary salespeople. Yet, with all the bluster, the majesty of Christmas far overshadows any man-made adjunct of the holy day.

There is only one unfortunate phase of Christmas giving. It is the heartaches that it brings to so many; the glorification of size and glamour that smothers the spirit of a humble gift and makes its giver miserable. Oh why must people grieve that they can't "do more"?

I wish I could tear the price tag off of Christmas. If you'll pardon an intensely personal incident, I'll try. It best emphasizes what I'm trying to write.

ED TRIPP'S house was one of simple comforts, yet by today's professionalized welfare standards its one child likely would be classed among the "border-line underprivileged — which would have been fighting words to Ed. He wanted neither tender sympathy nor "budget payments." He just wanted work.

This house weathered its crises on what could be saved from daily wages that now are paid per hour. The year of 1889 was a tough one, railroaders' work was slack; 'Ed's savings were exhausted.

Christmas came. On the parlor wall hung a tambourine, upon which a friend had crudely painted a gaudy pastoral scene. I had always teased to thump and jingle it, but it was one of mother's prized possessions, her only "oil painting," not a plaything, she explained.

WHEN I WENT downstairs that Christmas morning there was an apple in my stocking and a little candy cane; on the floor a couple of homemade toys that my father had contrived.

There also was a strange aura in the room that even a child could detect; the pang that parents feel when their child seems disappointed. Mine were thinking of the stacks of toys I'd soon encounter in playmates' homes.

Then something happened that was to influence my attitude toward Christmas all through life. Pop pointed to the wall, mother nodded; and a radiant smile came upon her face. I jumped for joy.

Mom gave me her cherished tambourine.

I can't remember a happier Christmas. It was years before I understood what my parents passed through. They thought they let me down; instead they had given me the one thing I wanted most in all the world; a treasure that they prized, a humble token from the heart.

This is the true Christmas giving, all men live to discover.

HAVE YOU ever marveled at the choice of children? We have seen ours desert expensive toys to play with kitchen gadgets. Anna keeps a bottom drawer full of castoff cookie moulds, pie tins, measuring cups, spoons and mixers; an array of playthings, battered and bent; the best loved toys of any in the house.

No, it isn't the children who make Christmas a carnival of extravagance, a vulgar show to beat the Joneses. It is parents, who deluge them with more than they can use or comprehend—and plant the seed of waste and overindulgence in generations to come.

AS TRULY as it is blessed to give, so it is evil to overgive. How much better to spread that stack that no one child can enjoy, among the less fortunate.

Many a toy that will land in your attic or cellar by New Year's can make some poor kid happy all week long.

And yours will never miss it.

THE GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA COMPANY

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

A number of readers mentioned the item on the history of the Kingston Fire Department mentioned in this column the other evening. The material was collected and written up by H. L. Van Deusen, the late columnist of "At Century's Turn" in this newspaper. He wrote it up for the 1928 Souvenir booklet of the Kingston Fire Department when it was celebrating its 174th Anniversary, and as I mentioned previously next year, 1954, on November 27, the Kingston Fire Department will complete 200 years of service to this locality. They certainly are entitled to celebrate in a big way.

The name Vanderlyn, I notice, not only is known in the City of Kingston as that of a foremost national artist of his day, (but no doubt a relative,) Nicholas Vanderlyn, Jr, was appointed captain of the fire department in 1798. (In 1797 the state Legislature passed an act authorizing the trustees of the Freeholders of the Commonalty of the Town of Kingston to organize a fire department, and on May 19, 1797, Coenradt Ed. Elmendorf was appointed captain and Henry Eltinge, lieutenant of the fire company.) The following year after his appointment, Captain Elmendorf resigned and was succeeded by Nicholas Vanderlyn, Jr. In the spring of 1802 this fire company was disbanded, but a new organization was immediately formed with Vanderlyn as captain. On April 6, 1805, the state Legislature passed an act incorporating the village of Kingston, and a few months later the village directors requested the corporation to transfer the fire engine to them, which was done, and the engine housed in a building near the court house.

Not only does a famous artist's name link itself to the local fire department, but also the name of a publisher whose newspaper and name has popped up in states all over the nation for over 150 years. Everytime, the name of this publisher and his newspaper shows up the owners of this little paper become so excited they either get in touch with their local press, or write right to Kingston's public offices, or newspapers or library. The name of the newspaper, is of course, "The Ulster County Gazette" of 1800, the publisher was Samuel S. Freer, whose name appears as lieutenant, under Nicholas Vanderlyn Jr. as captain, when the Kingston village fire department was organized on October 19, 1805. No doubt the two famous names were signed on many papers together, perhaps such papers still exist. I certainly would like to see one. The fire company at the time numbered only 13 members. They had strict rules and members had to report at stated intervals for exercise. Those who did not show up for drill, were required to report to the directors and unless they furnished very good excuses, heavy fines were imposed on them and collected.

Those were the days of the good old leather bucket and every householder had to own one and keep it handy. Each bucket had the initials of the owner. When an alarm was sounded, the buckets were either thrown out of the front door for some one to grab it or carried right to the fire by the householder, who would also help to form the famous bucket brigade from the nearest water supply to the scene of the fire. Buckets held about eight quarts of water.

George Washington died December 14, 1799.

Two "Outsiders" on Bills

United States bank notes carry the portraits of only two persons who were not presidents—S. P. Chase and Benjamin Franklin.

Our pet endorsement of the month comes from Joey Adams who tells of a man who died of a very queer accident.

He split a giant economy size bottle of Instant Hair Grow on his head, and smothered to death before he could get to a pair of scissors.

At the market, a store owner and manufacturer were arguing loudly and excitedly about a deal when a friend of the buyer came by. He called the man over and said:

Buyer—I can't understand you, Irving. In all the years I've known you, you've never once paid a bill. You know you're not going to pay the man anyway, so why argue about the price?

Irving—I know but he's such a nice fellow, I'd like to keep his losses down.

Although each sound may have ten or more different meanings, the entire Chinese language is made up of words of one syllable, and the language has no rules of grammar.—Jennie Gelzer, Mount Hope, W. Va.

Sherle—The way to get what you want is just to have pluck. Pluck is the thing that's required.

Merle—Plus the person to pluck, dear.

From the report of a council meeting in Ottawa, Ill., Daily Republican-Times: "Moved by Commissioner Doherty that the report of E. T. Burke, Fire Chief, be approved and placed on fire."

Trying to collect the bill but wanting to be polite, the doctor sent the patient a statement with the notation: "This bill is one year old."

But the patient knew his Emily Post and most politely answered: "Happy Birthday."

Red Three Rule Can Be Varied

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

The scoring of red threes in the various games of the canasta family leads to a certain amount of confusion and puzzlement. Most people switch from one game to another without realizing that the rules about red threes also change.

The value of a single red three is always 100 points in any game of the canasta family. The bonus for getting all of the red threes is always 400 points. In the game of canasta, played with two decks of cards, there are four red threes, each worth 100 points. If your side gets all four of these red threes, you get the 400 points for them together with the bonus of 400 points, or a total of 800 points.

In the games of samba and bolivia, there are three packs, so that six red threes are in play. If your side gets all six of them, you get 100 points apiece plus the bonus of 400 points, or a total of 1000 points.

Thus far we have been on easy ground. We reach a difficulty when we discuss the question of whether to count the red threes as plus or as minus scores.

In the game of canasta your side gets credit for its red threes as soon as you have made any legal meld, even if that meld is only 15 points. This is very rare, to be sure, since the maximum first meld is usually 50 points or more. The important principle is that any legal meld is enough; you don't need a canasta to get credit for your red threes.

If you don't have a legal meld, your red threes are counted against you. This doesn't mean that the red threes are not counted. They are counted as a minus score instead of as a plus score.

For example, suppose your side gets all four red threes in the very first hand of a game but you cannot meld and your opponents meld out. The value of the cards in the partnership hands is counted against you, and so is the 800-point value of the four red threes. Your score for the hand is roughly minus 1000.

In samba and in bolivia, you get credit for your red threes only after you have melded two canastas. These can be canastas of any value; two ordinary canastas, or two sambas, or one of each. In the game of bolivia you may count a canasta of wild cards as one of your two canastas. (You may even count two canastas of wild cards, if you happen to be so fantastically lucky as to get them.)

Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

Elks to Entertain Kiddies at Show Saturday Morning

Saturday is children's day at the Broadway Theatre through the courtesy of Kingston Lodge 550, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

Exalted Ruler Robert M. Smith, considered one of the most active and progressive leaders in the annals of the lodge, hopes the theatre will be packed with happy youngsters for the program of movies, including the usual popular comic cartoons. The show will start at 10 a. m.

Chairman of the event is William F. Edelmuth, picked by Smith because of his interest over a period of years in yule programs promoted by the Elks.

The former mayor of the city said he had arranged to bring children to the theatre from the Sacred Heart Orphanage, West Park; the Children's Home and St. Anne's Convent, this city.

"We want a crowd there," he said. "We're planning a gigantic program and feel certain that every youngster will enjoy it."

Grade Pupils Invited

Edelmuth stressed that all grade school pupils are invited to the theatre party.

Harry Beck, food market operator in the central part of the city, is treasurer of the Elks' cheer committee, and is accepting donations for the regular program carried on by the lodge at this season.

Chairman Edelmuth said that in addition to the theatre party, the lodge would hold its annual program at Sacred Heart Orphanage on Sunday, Jan. 3, to which all Elks and their families are invited to enjoy the afternoon play staged by children of the school under the direction of the nuns.

Foolish Fifties Dangerous

Omaha (AP)—The sugar daddy in his "foolish fifties" really exists and he's usually pretty mixed up emotionally, says Dr. Francis J. Braceland, psychiatrist-in-chief of the Institute of Life, Hartford, Conn. He told an Omaha Midwest Clinical Society meeting: "A fellow reaches 50 and realizes time is getting short. He may decide that a change of jobs or a change in wives will help him stay young for a while longer." But, says Dr. Braceland, he is just fooling himself.

Postal Hearings Called

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—Hearings on objections to existing size and weight limitations on parcel post packages were called today by a House post office subcommittee. Chairman St. George (R.-N. Y.) announced the hearings for Jan. 7 as a result of protests over the differences in postal regulations applying to various classes of post offices. The subcommittee earlier this year recommended uniformity in the size and weight of parcels, regardless of the class of post office in which the mailing originates.

Two Found Dead

New York, Dec. 21 (AP)—A man and wife in their middle 20s were found dead in a Greenwich Village hotel last night. Police said a bottle for a patent headache tablet was found in their room. The two were identified as Ronald and Jennie Singer. They were found fully clothed on their bed by policemen who broke into their hotel Colborne room after another hotel resident reported not seeing them for some time.

This struggle dominates all other considerations of our times. The issue—Freedom versus Communism—is a life-and-death matter. To my mind, it is the struggle of the ages.

Christmas Program Details Completed

Woodstock, Dec. 21 The committee in charge of the Christmas Eve celebration on the village green reported last week at the meeting of the Woodstock Square Club, sponsoring the event, that it is expected to surpass previous ones in pageantry and beauty. It was reported that final arrangements for every detail have been completed and an invitation extended to all children in the township as well as those from neighboring communities, to be present and welcome Santa Claus.

It has also been requested that anyone who knows of a child who is ill and unable to attend on Christmas Eve communicate as soon as possible with Santa's helpers at Woodstock 2939. Santa's assistant will take the name and address of the child and schedule a visit.

It was announced that the annual President's Dinner would be held Thursday evening, Jan. 21, at Deanie's. The committee for the dinner includes Dr. J. Crandall, Rudy Baumgarten and Leon Carey.

The nominating committee, through its chairman, Adolf Heckeroth, named the following, stating that nominations for others would be welcomed from the floor: Robert Gordon, president; Lewis Wilson, vice president; Ed Bauman, secretary; Rudy Baumgarten, treasurer; Dr. J. Crandall of Saugerties, honorary vice president; Judge John Sterley of Kingston, honorary vice president.

There being no further nominations from the floor the secretary was ordered to cast one ballot for the above which was done.

After the meeting two motion pictures were shown, A Trio to Viking Land and Fabulous Fishing in South America, through the courtesy of Pan American Airways. The films were, as usual, shown at the Woodstock School on Friday morning.

A visitor from Cuba, C. J. Pool, was welcomed. Refreshments were served followed by an hour of fellowship.

Would End Subsidies

New York, Dec. 21 (AP)—The National Association of Manufacturers says all federal subsidies to private enterprise should be discontinued, except those necessary for national defense. NAM Managing Director Earl Bunting said in a statement yesterday that the organization's board of directors had adopted a resolution opposing the subsidies as "socialistic in nature" and violations of the principles of free competitive enterprise.

Would Provide Penalty

New York, Dec. 21 (AP)—New York legislative investigators of charity rackets plan to recommend a law making it a penal offense to use the name of a person for raising funds without written authorization.

Investor Forum

by

Harry C. France

WHAT'S AHEAD

This column was born at a time of great social and economic turmoil. In 1932, when many bankers, brokers and business men were as blue as indigo, I was invited to address a New York city club.

Optimistic by nature and nurtured in a religious, self-reliant family, I told my audience the country wasn't going to the economic dogs and that a dose of cheerfulness and hard work would accomplish wonders.

In that gathering was a newspaper owner and editor. My first "Investors Forum" column was the outcome of that 30-minute talk.

This column, nearly 21 years old, has been written in the most devastating deflationary times, with wheat at 40 cents a bushel and cotton at five cents a pound; and in the most exhilarating, inflationary times, when Uncle Sam had to borrow $150,000,000 to pay his bills.

Since 1932, economic America has been batted from pillar to post. In 20 years, due to deficit financing, we have gone from a scarcity of money to a superabundance of it; and from prices that were too low to prices that are too high.

The miracle is that, economically, we have survived these extremes. It is a great testimonial to our resourceful, industrious, ingenious people who are so highly favored by the natural wealth of the country.

Yet, today, millions of uncertain citizens—looking into 1954—are asking: "What's ahead?"

Well, I can't imagine that anything more disastrous can happen in the 20 years to come than has happened in the 20 years just passed. Economic America sailed safely through the worst deflationary and inflationary periods in her history. Here we still are: 160,000,000 of us with the highest living standard in the world, which is still improving.

In a dynamic society such as ours, one must expect some storm-and-stress periods. That is why individual thrift and saving is so necessary in America. The Bible admonishes us to build on rock and not on sand. This means that, in the flush of our earning power, we should so order our economic lives that we can save for the inevitable rainy day.

What's ahead? Some stormy days. When? That is difficult to predict. Why will stormy days come? For many, many reasons. Here are a few:

1. Prices are too high for an enduring prosperity.

8. Consumer loans are, in my judgment, too big. They total approximately $27,000,000,000, which means that 10,000,000 people are borrowing an average of $2,700 each. A big hunk of our present prosperity is being generated by these loans.

3. Taxes are too incentive-killing.

4. Borrowed money in Washington is also keeping our inflationary prosperity going.

However, with our resources; our living standards; our growing population; and our inventive, productive and distributive know-how, the dangers of these things can be ameliorated. I am not bearish on America. Rather, I am bullish.

Washington, D. C. has become the balance-wheel center of America. Who leads us there, economically, helps each of us to determine his individual fate. Federal taxation, borrowing, spending and debt-handling bulk large in our national life.

One reason why I look confidently into 1954, as an investor, is that the men running Uncle Sam's affairs are such able and experienced officials.

Next week, in my last article for 1953, I shall discuss some Washington leaders and their backgrounds. I think that by Christmas 1954 we shall have a healthier economy than today.

If this prediction comes true, I think the dollar will be sounder. As a result, the average American investor will be happier.

The Forum

Q.—(A frequent one) "I have large profits in stocks. Should I take them?"

A.—It all depends on your economic circumstances and your financial position. If you are out of debt; if you need your invested income, if no large dollar demands lie ahead, I would not take profits. But if capital gains will eliminate or ease financial burdens, then I would take some.

Harry C. France will answer one letter each week through this column. If you have any investment questions, write in care of this newspaper.

Christmas Seal Search

One hundred and fifty thousand missing persons must be found to keep you safe from tuberculosis.

There are an estimated 400,000 active cases of tuberculosis in the United States today of which only 250,000 are known to health authorities. Many of the 150,000 unknown people with TB do not even suspect that they have an insidious disease which is steadily and quietly undermining their health. TB had no obvious symptoms in its early stages, yet it is infectious in any active stage.

Tuberculosis can be cured. If we could break the chain of infection the disease could be virtually wiped out. Yet we know that about 115,000 people who are healthy today will develop TB within the next 12 months. Unless the missing people spreading TB are found and placed under treatment, we cannot prevent new cases.

Where are they and who are they? We do not know, but we must find out. Doctors, health departments, the tuberculosis associations you support when you buy Christmas Seals—these and other official and voluntary agencies are joining in the search.

The tools and "know-how" to do this job are available. A chest X-ray can "see" tuberculosis before there are any outward symptoms. With miniature X-ray film, the entire population of a large city can be checked quickly and the possible cases of TB screened out.

The tuberculosis associations in cooperation with other agencies promote case-finding programs of many kinds, with the purpose of finding the most cases at the least cost to the community.

In addition to supporting your tuberculosis association's case-finding activities by buying Christmas Seals, you can help break the chain of infection by making sure that you are not one of the "missing persons" with unsuspected TB. Go to your doctor at least once a year for a complete physical exam and a chest X-ray. If TB should develop, you will discover it early when it can most easily be cured.

Two More Unions Accept Formula

New York, Dec. 21 (AP)—Two more unions have voted to accept the formula of a $3.75-a-week package plus fact-finding which ended the recent strike of photo-engravers against six major New York city newspapers.

Acceptance was voted yesterday by Local 1 of the Paper Handlers and Straighteners and Local 6 of the Mailers Union, both AFL.

The formula had been accepted earlier by the AFL Stereotypers as well as by the AFL Photo-Engravers.

The formula was suggested by federal mediators in the strike of the photo-engravers, which ended in a compromise Dec. 8, the 11th day of the stoppage. The publishers lated offered the same formula to other craft unions.

The photo-engravers' demands beyond the $3.75 weekly package and the publishers' side of the case are in the hands of a fact-finding committee. The committee has completed taking data but has not yet filed its recommendations. They will not be binding.

Named Top Movie Stars

New York, Dec. 21 (AP)—Audrey Hepburn and Jose Ferrer have been named top movie stars of the year in an annual poll of critics by Film Daily, a trade publication. The European-born Miss Hepburn also was named top "find" of the year because of her first big U. S. screen role in Roman Holiday. Ferrer was cited for his acting in Moulin Rouge. Crooner Frank Sinatra's straight dramatic role in From Here to Eternity and Gloria Grahame's part in The Bad and the Beautiful won them citations for best supporting performances.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

Mr. Hutton

Once, when I was a boy, I rode beside the driver of a stage-coach going from Red Bluff, Calif., to a sheep ranch. The driver swung a long snake whip. He could flick horseflies with a masterful touch and not hit the horse.

Just ahead I saw a swarm of bees. I said:

"Can you knock off a few of those bees?"

"Sure could," he said, "but if I did, those bees would chase this outfit a mile. Son, those bees are organized. The horseflies ain't."

Just so with "we, the people," and the pressure groups. The leftists, Socialists, waterfront gangsters, bureaucrats and gimmecrats are organized. They crack the whip and we jump. We organize only for a few weeks every two or four years when elections roll around.

That isn't enough.

"Go to the bee, consider her ways and be wise."

Dry Year for Offices

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—It may be a dry year for Christmas office parties in government buildings—the drouth already has reached the State Department press room. The State Department Correspondents Association called off its traditional Christmas party, usually attended by top officials, when Undersecretary of State Donold B. Lourie sent the newsmen word the ban on liquor would extend into the quarters they use. All office parties in State Department divisions will be non-alcoholic. And there were signs the same rule would apply in other government departments.

Girl, 12, Dies

New York, Dec. 21 (AP)—A 12-year-old girl whose heroism Thanksgiving Eve saved her brother and sister from injury and possible death died Saturday in a hospital here. Enid Long had suffered second-degree burns over the upper part of her body and had lost the fingers of her left hand carrying a flaming can of paint thinner from her family's home in Copake, Columbia county.

Population of the United States is increasing at a rate of about 2,500,000 persons a year.

Y Youth Groups Trim Yule Tree, Decorate Windows

Members of the YMCA Youth Center, particularly the Friday Niter's group, have turned the local Y into a real Christmas scene including a big Christmas tree in the Center as well as appropriate decorations on the building's front windows, Lou Schafer, general secretary, reported today.

Among those participating in the art work were Janelle Eaton, Joan Wenzel, Joan Mazdin, Barbara Keizer, Carol Lawrence and Patricia Crispell.

In charge of decorating the Christmas tree were John McDonald, Carol Lawrence, Patricia Crispell, Charles Bishop and Janelle Eaton.

One window at the Y has a special painting of a young deer flanked on each side by a candy cane. Another has a big snowman wearing a stove hat and flanked by Christmas trees.

Another window, Schafer pointed out, has a painting of Santa Claus bordered by two large red candles with green ribbons. Other windows include the head of a snowman surrounded by Christmas tree trimmings, an angel blowing a horn, big red stockings trimmed with toy decorations sticking out of the top with green holley and red berries on the side and one window covered with large red poinsettas.

YMCA Boys' Division Party Slated Tuesday

The YMCA Boys' Division will hold its annual Christmas party Tuesday at 3 p. m. in the Youth Center gym. All YMCA members and their friends are invited, it was announced today by Lou Schafer, general secretary.

All boys are requested to bring a small present. Santa Claus will attend and will distribute the gifts. The program also will include the singing of Christmas carols and movies shown by Clarence L. Dumm. Following the movies, refreshments will be served. Candy will be distributed to each member attending.

Schafer said today that the party will continue to about 4:30 p. m. at which time boys will be given a schedule of special recreation and events slated during the Christmas vacation period.

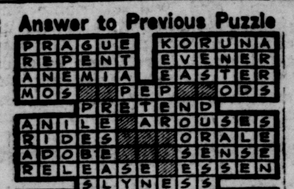
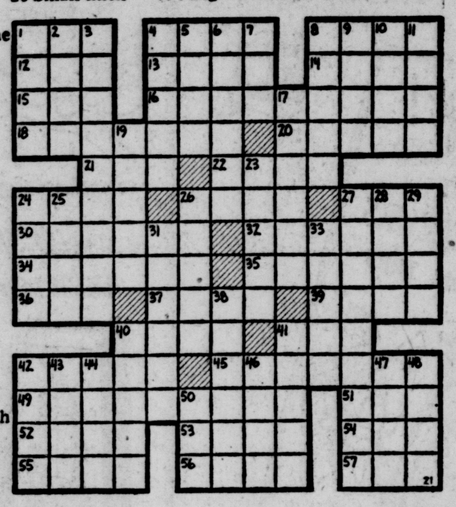
Answer to Previous Puzzle





Answers Are Sought

New York, Dec. 21 (AP)—The State Insurance Department is asking 50 insurance agencies to submit answers to a comprehensive questionnaire about the handling of union welfare funds. Adelbert G. Straub, Jr., deputy superintendent of insurance in charge of a union welfare fund investigation, disclosed the circularizing of the questionnaires last night.

Are 'Desperately Low'

Manila, Dec. 21 (AP)—The chief of staff of the Philippines armed forces said today the islands' Communist Huk dissidents "are desperately low in morale and beyond redemption." Maj. Gen. Calixto Duque, in an Armed Forces Day speech, asserted that from a force of 10,00 armed men three years ago, the Huks have been whittled down to 2,400.

Court Rules Out Review of Vet's Exempted Taxes

An application for review of a veteran's tax exemption, granted by the assessors of the town of New Paltz to Frederick W. Osterhoudt, on the grounds he is not in fact the owner of the premises, has been denied by Justice Kenneth S. MacAffer who heard the application at a special term of Supreme Court Oct. 9.

This is one of a series of tax cases which have been aired before the Supreme Court from the town of New Paltz. In this case the application was brought by James E. Rappa against Frederick C. Osterhoudt, Edgar V. Beebe and Emory R. Jacobs, as members of the board of assessors. Ralph Gabrielli appeared for petitioner and Peter H. Harp for the respondents.

Alleged Exemption Illegal

The application sought to review the action of the assessors was brought under article 78 of the Civil Practice Act. It was alleged the tax exemption for the year 1950 and for each tax year thereafter was illegal and a mandamus order was sought to compel the assessors to collect the tax. In 1950 the assessors exempted from taxation property of Frederick W. Osterhoudt, to the extent of $1,000. Petitioner alleges the property was not in fact owned by Frederick W. Osterhoudt and that the deed of the property to him was a sham and a device to procure the exemption.

Osterhoudt denied this allegation and filed supporting documentary evidence.

Justice MacAffer holds the petitioner is not entitled to review the matter by certiorari pursuant to either the tax law or Article 78 of the Civil Practice Act.

Respondents In Default

In the course of the proceeding before the court the petitioner had contended the respondents had failed to serve their answer prior to two days before the return date of the application and consequently were in default. However, the petitioner retained the answer and return and the respondent procured an order to show cause why the service and filing of the answer and return of respondents should not be validated. This motion, validating the answer of the respondents, was granted by the court.

Justice MacAffer holds that "obviously more than four months have elapsed from the granting of the exemption with respect to the tax roll in the years 1950, 1951 and 1952 which precludes a review of such exemptions under article 78. (CPA Sec. 1286). More than 30 days have elapsed since the final completion and filing of such tax rolls which precludes a review under article 13 of the Tax Law. (Tax Law Sec. 290-a)"

The application is denied and the petition dismisses with $25 costs and disbursements to the respondents.

Deep Purple Fog Now

London, Dec. 21 (AP)—The cold grey fog of London turned deep purple today. The weather man described the hue of the thick mist as "royal purple" and said it was due to refraction of light through suspended water particles. Whatever its color, it was more dense than usual.

Eight Boys Held In Fatal Shooting

New York, Dec. 21 (AP)—Eight boys of a Bronx gang were under arrest today in the Saturday night death of a 16-year-old boy, said to have been shot accidentally as the boys discussed plans for a street fight with another gang.

The dead boy, Jerry Piro, was found Saturday night in a Bronx hallway several blocks from his home. A bullet had pierced his forehead. He died early yesterday in a hospital.

A search of the building where he was found disclosed a neighborhood gang clubroom. Police rounded up members of the gang and later reported these details:

P-TA and Council To Sponsor Dance

Saugerties, Dec. 21 — A joint announcement from Mrs. Francis Amrod, president of the Parent-Teachers Association and Mrs. Albert L. Giannotti, member of the Youth Activities Committee of the Saugerties Youth Council confirmed the discussion at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Council.

At that time a conflict was discovered with the announcement that the Youth Activities Committee had planned a All-Youth Holiday Dance on the same evening that the P-TA annual Alumni Dance was to be held. As both dances would cater to the younger element it was agreed that rather than have a conflict the two groups would co-sponsor a dance that would serve both purposes. The dance is now scheduled for Monday, Dec. 28, at the Municipal Auditorium at 8 p. m. and will end at 12 midnight.

Frankie Zano and his orchestra will provide the background for dancing. It was announced that there would be door prizes, refreshments and a program of entertainment.

All young people in the town and village are invited to attend free of charge.

Downs West Camp

West Camp, Dec. 21—At a special Dartball League game on Thursday night the Centerville Fire Co. team stopped the fast moving West Campers by defeating them 2 to 1. This game which was played in the West Camp Parish Hall was moved up ahead of schedule to allow time for the many other activities during Christmas week.

VFW Blood Bank Had 12 Donors Last Week

Saugerties, Dec. 21—The VFW blood bank's most recent drawing was held on Thursday evening at the VFW Hall at which time 12 donors were present. Mrs. John E. Drewes, chairman of the bank, said they were not too disappointed as they realized that people were busy this time of year and also that several appointments were canceled due to colds.

Mrs. Drewes made know that she had received many Christmas cards from those who have used blood from the local pool. The senders thanked her and wished her the season's greetings. This gratitude and Yuletide greeting Mrs. Drewes would like to extend to all donors who have donated blood to the bank in the past year as they are the ones for whom these greetings were intended.

Mrs. Drewes stated, "As chairman of the VFW blood bank and on behalf of my committee, we want to wish the cooperative press, the merchants who so generously donated towards the suppers, the ladies' auxiliary, the post members, the Dad's of VFW, all the donors and all other associates a very merry Christmas and a happy New Year."

There will be an official blood bank drawing in January. However a birthday party is being planned for the group to celebrate the second year of operation of the bank. The few that will give blood at that time have already signed up for the January drawing.

The donors this past Thursday included Joseph Dengler, Hannah Lewis, Steve Ascaric, John Martin, David Hutton, Carl Rea, Mrs. Marjorie Streider, Barney Emberson, Mrs. Betty Nowack, William Swanson, Mrs. Virginia Tobiassen and Austin Tobiassen.

At the January celebration to be held on Thursday the 21st Mrs. Kay Linden and Robert Herb will be the guests of honor and will at that time receive a gift for the distinction of giving seven times to the local bank.

Will Tour Orient

Tokyo, Dec. 21 (AP)—Adm. Arthur Radford, chairman of the U. S. joint chiefs of staff, and Walter S. Robertson, U. S. assistant secretary of state, arrived today on a tour that will take them through Japan, Korea, Formosa and the Philippines. Robertson, who last summer won from South Korean President Syngman Rhee a promise to observe an armistice, told newsmen he expects Rhee "to cooperate with his allies" in Korea. Robertson made the statement at Tokyo International Airport in answer to questions about Rhee's probable future moves. Both Radford and Robertson described their trip as routine.

1924 Job Pays Off

London, Dec. 21 (AP)—Daniel J. Davies, a 59-year-old laborer, is getting paid this Christmas for snow shoveling he did in New York 29 years ago. New York city's sanitation commissioner, Andrew Mulrain, has sent him a personal check for $15. He dug into his own pocket for the money after Davies wrote recently that he had failed to collect for 10 hours work one winter night in 1924. Davies said he was supposed to get 50 cents an hour but somebody accused him of shirking the job and he stomped off without collecting.

General Gives Warning

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—Gen. Nathan F. Twining, air force chief of staff, said today America's air defense still packs a harder punch than Russia's—but he warned that the Soviet Union is making "a tremendous effort to overcome that lead." The air force chief also said in a copyrighted interview in the magazine "U. S. News and World Report" that the United States is in better position to strike through the air, should war come, than to defend herself against air assault.

Nixon to Give Report

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—Vice President Nixon plans a radio-television report to the nation Wednesday night (NBC, 10:30 p. m., EST) on his just-completed 45,000-mile tour through Asia and the Middle East. The White House said Saturday President Eisenhower asked Nixon to speak.

Airliner Escorts Disabled Planes To Safe Landings

Honolulu, Dec. 21 (AP)—A four-engine Tokyo-bound Pan American Stratocruiser escorted two disabled planes to safe landings at Wake Island today in a double "rescue," a Pan American spokesman announced.

One of the disabled planes was an overseas National Airways DC4 flying under military charter from Honolulu to Wake. It feathered its No. 2 propeller 700 miles east of Wake and radioed for help.

The other was a Navy PBM amphibious search plane which left Wake in answer to the distress messages from the DC4.

Ocean Landing Feared

The PBM began losing oil from its starboard engine 200 miles out of Wake. A Pan American emergency said it messaged that it might be forced to make an emergency landing in the Pacific.

The Pan American clipper Nightingale was refueled at Wake when the distress signals came. It left immediately to provide assistance, the airline spokesman said.

The Stratocruiser picked up the PBM one hour out of Wake and flew with it as it limped back to base at an altitude of 600 feet.

The airliner then picked up the DC4 and shepherded it in to a landing about 30 minutes later.

Murrow on Rescuer

Pan American officials in Tokyo said news commentator Edward R. Murrow was among passengers on the stratocruiser.

The Hawaiian Sea Frontier which coordinates air and sea search and rescue operations in the area said it had no information on the incident. A spokesman said apparently neither the DC4 nor the PBM was in critical trouble.

No News on Search

The Sea Frontier said it had no additional information on the search for two navy planes missing in the area north of Guam.

Ships and planes zigzagged over the area Monday hunting for a navy search plane with 10 men aboard which vanished while seeking a lost weather plane carrying a crew of nine. The weather plane disappeared Wednesday while tracking a typhoon across the Pacific.

If you don't like the final contract in today's hand, don't expect to get an argument from me. I don't like it either. Neither did South, when the hand was actually played.

This doesn't mean that the bidding was "bad." North's hand wouldn't look any better if he had three small hearts and only two clubs, but a contract of four spades would then be very sound.

Likewise, the South hand wouldn't look any stronger if he had one diamond less and one heart more; but such a slight change would strengthen the combined hands immensely.

The trouble was that North and South each had the same doubleton. Each player thought that this doubleton was an asset, but the duplication made it worthless to both of them.

As the cards were actually dealt out, the final contract of four spades was too difficult for one person to make. Two people actually made it—the declarer and one of his opponents.

East won the first trick with the ace of hearts and returned the suit. South took the second trick with the king of hearts and drew three rounds of trumps. He then cashed the top clubs and gave up a club.

South hoped that the clubs would break 3-3 and that East would win and have to make a fatal return lead. If this plan failed, South expected to lead a diamond from the dummy in the hope that East had the doubleton ace-queen of that suit.

As it happened, West won the third round of clubs with the nine, and East discarded the seven of diamonds. If West had stopped to think he would have realized that nothing could stop declarer from ruffing his last club with dummy's last trump.

Hence West could lead the queen of clubs without doing anything for South that declarer couldn't do for himself. And then South would have to develop the diamonds all by himself.

But West didn't stop to think. He saw only that his partner had made an encouraging discard in diamonds, so West led the queen of diamonds.

This was a fatal error. East played low, and South won with the king. South then led a low diamond, playin the jack from dummy when West produced the ten. East could take his ace of diamonds, but then South had the rest of the tricks.

Strike Halts Deliveries

Minneapolis, Dec. 21 (AP)—Newshungry residents of this city of more than half a million population lined up again last night to purchase copies of the Minneapolis Tribune, sold only in the newspaper's main lobby since an AFL Teamsters' strike for higher pay knocked out all truck deliveries. The morning paper continued to publish but made no effort to deliver papers to homes or newsstands. Sales, made only in the lobby, were limited to five copies per buyer. Cut from the usual 620,000-run, only 75,000 copies of the Sunday edition were printed. All were sold by mid-afternoon. Sunday evening, sale of the Monday edition was brisk. Newsstands sold out all out-of-town papers they had.

Study of Young Children One in Varied Classroom

All classes in the homemaking department have been active since Thanksgiving with plans for the week preceding Christmas.

Miss Nellie Davenport's classes in child care have been entertaining their small-fry relatives and neighbors. At the same time the pre-schoolers have been enjoying picture books, games, and parties, their classroom hostesses have been observing and studying the reactions of their charges. Their talk and how they develop physically, emotionally, and socially. The high school students were especially interested in noting what might be expected of children of certain ages.

The classes of Miss Margaret Schuetz concentrated their energies on a party for members of the faculty. The tea was held in the reception room with more than half of the teachers in attendance.

The room was tastefully decorated in the Christmas theme, while all refreshments served during the afternoon were made by the girls.

The committee chairmen included Faith Gersback, Gail Edwards, chairmen decorations, and Sally Frederic, hospitality. Rita Coughlin and Jacequeline Peterson served as co-chairmen of refreshments.

At present, Miss Preuss is teaching German conversation at Skidmore College, Saratoga Springs, where she also attends classes.

PUSH-BUTTON PARKING—Garage attendants don't have to enter or drive the cars left in their care at this garage in downtown Los Angeles, Calif. A push-button elevator slides under the car and lifts it to a space just large enough to accommodate the auto. The garage parks 128 vehicles in a 60-by-90-foot area that normally would take care of 30 cars.

Red Propaganda Is

after his arrest was obviously to convince Russians of his guilt.

The terms used in the mass meetings to denounce Beria were highly reminiscent of those used 11 months ago to denounce and vilify the Soviet doctors who were accused of assassinating Soviet leaders. The accused doctors were freed less than three months after they were charged.

The Soviet government said the whole doctors' "plot" was a frameup, and that their "confessions" were obtained by "illegal and impermissible" methods.

Denunciation When Ordered

Campaigns of denunciation in Russia take place only when ordered. They are the ultimate device in the Soviet propaganda arsenal for getting public sentiment behind the government, crushing opposition to government policies, and arousing Russian emotions.

The mass meetings organized during such drives take place at places of work, and attendance at them is mandatory. Audiences present listen to a succession of speakers who use extreme terms of denunciation and condemnation and re-echo the government and party line. Besides the "doctors' plot" mass meeting campaign last January one of the more recent such efforts to drum up fury among Russians was that designed to support charges of American germ warfare in Korea.

TV Reform Tried

Budget Revisions Approved

Informed sources reported during the weekend that Eisenhower has tentatively approved military budget revisions that would mean reducing the strength of the army to about 1,165,000 men by July 1, 1955, compared with present strength of a little under 1½ million.

The recommendations were said to envisage reductions in manpower for all the armed services except the air force, which would be allowed to expand during the next two years from the present strength of a little over 930,000 to about 970,000.

Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-N.Y.) chairman of the Senate-House Committee on Atomic Energy, said last night he thought Congress would relax the secrecy on atomic matters now required by law enough to help U. S. allies and further the President's plan for an international information and materials pool to develop peacetime applications of nuclear energy.

Cole attended the legislative discussions on atomic energy Friday. Without indicating how far they went, he said on a CBS television show last night it is necessary to amend the Atomic Energy Act enough so that the European nations taking part in western defense can learn "a bit more" about the strength of atomic weapons.

He said he believes objections to the pool plan will melt when it is realized it had nothing to do with atomic weapons.

Cole suggested Russia be given another three months to decide whether to take part. If the Soviets remain aloof, he said, the other United Nations countries should go ahead.

CAR PRODUCTION DIPS—Passenger-car production during the second half of 1953 declined from previous high levels, according to the Automobile Manufacturers Association. Above News-chart shows car production by quarters from 1950 to the present. The high for period was the third quarter of 1950, when almost 2000 cars were produced, low was third quarter of 1952, when the figure dipped far below the 1000 mark. According to the organization, the decline is due to model changeovers and to a change in the new-car market. For the first time in a decade, new-car salesmen had to go out of the showroom in search of customers.

DIG THAT CRAZY SHOVEL—This mammoth tree digger, the only machine of its kind, makes its first run at Stephenville, Tex. Pulled by two huge caterpillar tractors, the attachment is mounted on a third heavy-duty tractor which gives it a combined 300 horsepower as it digs 42 inches into the ground to excavate row upon row of trees, roots intact. Designed by Hugh Wolfe, the shovel can unearth between 4000 and 5000 trees per day.

Firemen Called Out to Grass Fire

Firemen were called shortly after noon today by both telephone and a box alarm to check what was described as "a sizable grass fire" in the Waters woods area.

The box alarm was sounded from Box 2521, First avenue and Moore street, at 12:21 p. m., and at 12:31 p. m., Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy called in to dispatch the Wicks Engine Company to the fire. Men and equipment from Central Station and Cordts Hose answer the alarm with Rapid Hose Company standing by.

An alarm at 4:37 p. m., Saturday from Box 2511, Hasbrouck and Delaware avenues, was for a fire in the car of Robert Buboltz, 23 Grand street, Poughkeepsie, on Cottage Row, near Delaware avenue. Anti-freeze caught fire and damaged wiring, firemen said.

A call at 5:08 p. m., Saturday was for a brush fire off Kingston street, and one at 11:13 a. m., today was for an overheated radio transformer at 29 Janet street.

Cow Economy Checked

Blacksburg, Va. (AP)—Scientists here observed four cows around the clock for ten days. They found the animals spend 9 hours grazing, 7 hours just loafing and 8 hours ruminating in a 24-hour period.

French Vote

Socialists don't like his conservatism.

The Popular Republican Movement, (MRP), rightist in its church support but leftist in its labor philosophy, was divided between both camps.

Most parliamentary leaders were miserable at the big role political factors were playing in the choice of an official who by tradition is above politics.

Einstein Attends Elegant Wedding; Doffs 1930 Coat

New York, Dec. 21 (AP) — The aged, white-haired man strode into the fashionable Hotel Plaza last night, and headed for the elaborately decorated Terrace Room.

He handed the checkroom girl an old navy blue knitted cap similar to those sailors wear for a cold watch. Then he doffed an overcoat in which a waiter spotted a National Recovery Administration (NRA) label of the early 1930's.

Then, in a well-worn dark business suit and vest and an ordinary striped tie, the whitehaired man strolled into the main room to mingle with men in white tie and tails, and women gowned in formal silk and jewels.

Most Eminent Guest

It was one of the season's most elegant weddings, and the aged gentleman in the dark business suit was perhaps the most eminent wedding guest.

He came late but was one of the first through the reception line after the ceremony to congratulate the bridegroom, Dr. Thomas Lee Bucky of Cornell University Medical College here, and the bride the former Miss Margaret Neuberg, of Park avenue and Weston, Conn.

The guest, a close friend of Bucky's father, physicist Gustav Bucky, quickly ducked around a corner from the reception line and into an elevator and out of sight.

It was the end of a rare social appearance for 74-year-old Prof. Albert Einstein.

Children's Home Residents Are Guests of '50' Club

The "50" Club played host to the children of the Children's Home on East Chester street Sunday afternoon.

The children were treated to a movie at the Broadway Theatre with a special bus provided for their transportation. Capt. "Yank" Albright was designated as official escort.

Following the movie a Christmas party was held at the Home with soda, ice cream, fruit, cake and candy.

Gift Exchange Among Nations Discussed At WSCS Meeting

The Life and Task of the Church Around the World was the Study Group topic in the morning session of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the St. James Methodist Church Wednesday.

Mrs. George B. Davies, the speaker, pictured the world as a neighborhood where people have not learned to live together and the challenge is "to discover our mission in this picture and our Christian responsibility in the working out of human destiny."

Gracious Gifts Are Given was the thought of the Christmas program presented at the afternoon meeting, under the direction of Mrs. G. V. D. Hutton. With the exchange of gifts among nations as the theme, Mrs. Hutton demonstrated this fact with the playing of recordings of English, French and German carols.

Dr. Ralph M. Houston, pastor of the church, told of the origins of many symbols now in use in Christmas celebrations. "Many," said the Rev. Dr. Houston, "come from pagan times and others came into use from the New Testament."

The Rev. Dr. Houston closed the meeting with an appropriate poem about the new day beginning at the birth of Christ.

Horace H. Hayden of Windsor, Conn., is credited with establishing the world's first dental college there.

PARENTS DISAPPROVE OF DAUGHTER'S MARRIAGE

An unhappy mother writes me: "Our daughter is marrying against our wishes. We do not approve of the man she is marrying. (He is years older than she and has been married before). Since she has taken it upon herself to go against our judgment, do you think she can expect her father to give her away? He says that taking part at her marriage would be acting the part of a hypocrite because everyone knows how he feels. Your advice would be much appreciated."

A father who publicly stands back of his daughter no matter whether he thinks she is right or wrong is not a hypocrite but a thoroughbred. While he is entirely right to try to dissuade her from what he thinks will bring her ultimate unhappiness, I think he will be very sorry later on if he refuses to give her his blessing. Many parents have stood behind their children in situations of which they did not approve, because one of the rules in the code of perfect parents is that they never let their children down.

Leaving the Theatre

Dear Mrs. Post: When a man and girl are leaving their seats in a theatre, does it seem rude if the man goes out of the row ahead of the girl if he happens to be sitting nearest the aisle, or is he supposed to stand and let her pass in front of him so that she may go out first?

Answer: They go out in the order in which they are seated. When he gets to the aisle he stands aside and lets her go first, or else they walk out together.

Addressing An Ambassador

Dear Mrs. Post: The head of our company was recently appointed United States ambassador to a foreign country. He will be coming back to the states soon and we would like very much to know how we are to address him when speaking directly to him here at the office. Your help in this matter will be appreciated.

Answer: In his own office, I think you would call him what you always have. Formally before strangers you would call him "Mr. Ambassador."

On what occasion does a gentleman lift his hat or remove it? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Her leaflet E-15 "Manners in Public," answers the above and many other questions on manners in public. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. at the start of 1953. Iron and steel plates apparently have a high priority on Communist shopping lists. French leaders, when they were in Washington last March, promised to halt the trade. West Germany followed suit early this fall.

Last year Pakistan was the second biggest exporter to China, selling nearly 84 million dollars worth of goods, largely cotton. This year the trade has fallen well below that level.

Ceylon sent about 26 million dollars worth of merchandise to Communist China in 1952, almost all of it highly strategic rubber. The rate of these shipments almost doubled in the first part of this year and they are still going on.

Palmer Named to Post

William H. Palmer, extreme right, Ulster county agricultural agent, was named secretary-treasurer of the New York Association of County Agricultural Agents, during a recent meeting in Ithaca. Other leaders who will supervise the activities during 1954 of the group will be (l-r) Roger Cramer, Jamestown, past president; Howard Mattot, Norwich, president; William Barry, Hudson, vice president and Palmer. Oren A. Burbank, Poughkeepsie, was named director.

BUBBLE BLOWER—Heinz Kuhn is one of the few craftsmen left in Germany who scorns modern machinery to blow Christmas balls in his small shop in the British sector of Berlin. During the holiday rush he has taken on additional help to cope with a flood of orders to make gaily-colored tree decorations.

Last Bid

rea from his Tokyo headquarters primarily to discuss plans for handling about 22,500 anti-Communist Chinese and Koreans scheduled for release from Indian custody Jan. 22 under terms of the armistice.

The Communists have insisted that the prisoners be kept in neutral custody until a peace conference decides their fate, but Hull said they will be eligible for freedom "one minute after midnight on Jan. 22."

Alert Is Sounded

Seoul, Dec. 21 (AP)—Two unidentified planes flew south across the neutral zone from North Korea Sunday night, and air raid sirens in Seoul signalled the battered city's first alert since the armistice. Allied radar tracked the two planes in their southward flight and jet interceptors streaked through cloudy skies in a vain attempt to locate them. An air force spokesman said the planes headed north again a few minutes after crossing the dormant battle line. The all clear sounded in Seoul 32 minutes after the alert.

Will Get State Grant

Albany, Dec. 21 (AP)—The new Alcoholism Clinic and Research Center at Kings County Hospital, Brooklyn, will receive a $27,300 annual grant from the State Mental Health Commission. The State University College of Medicine at New York city will operate the center. It is scheduled to open about the first of the year with Dr. Harold W. Potter, professor of psychiatry at the medical college, as director. The commission said yesterday it had promised the college $17,300 annually for the alcoholism clinic and $10,000 annually for research.

Smashes Out of Bottle

Vienna, Austria, Dec. 21 (AP)—Rudolf Schmid, a 53-year-old Austrian stunt man, yesterday smashed his way out of a big glass bottle in which he had lived for a year. He was hauled off to a hospital. In the bottle he had been exhibited in 100 European towns. Having lost 66 pounds, he nearly collapsed when he finally broke the glass with a hammer and staggered out.

Are Rage in Russia

London, Dec. 21 (AP)—Dresses with loose sleeves, slooping shoulders and deep armholes are all the rage this year in Russia. Moscow Radio fashion commentator Eliseveta Volgina reported last night: "This sleeve didn't catch on very well last year, since most women have become accustomed to the severe lines of the tailored sleeve, but it has now received full recognition."

Ballots Are Cast

Vienna, Austria, Dec. 21 (AP)—Radio Sofia said today 99.8 per cent of Bulgaria's voters cast ballots for the Communist-run Fatherland Front candidates in Sunday's parliamentary elections. They were the only candidates on the ballot.

Offices to Close

The office of local draft boards 18 (city) and 19 (county) will close at noon on Dec. 24 and on Dec. 31 before each of the forthcoming holidays. Lewis May Try old ILA. Last week an official of the AFL-ousted ILA reports that Lewis had supplied a $50,000 loan to help fight the new AFL union.

Declines Comment

The 73-year-old Lewis declined any comment, but it is reported that his brother and top organizer in labor sectors outside the coal industry, A. C. (Denny) Lewis has met frequently with officials of the old ILA.

The reported loan led to speculation that the old ILA is destined to become part of District 50 of the United Mine Workers Union (UMW). Lewis is the longtime president of the UMW, now unaffiliated with any national labor federation. Brother Denny heads the UMW's District 50. This is the UMW branch of all sorts of Lewis-organized workers outside the coal industry.

Lewis has been trying for some time to get a foothold in New York city. Brother Denny launched a campaign a few years ago to try to organize the city's taxicab drivers, but the plan flopped.

Windmill Is Art Gallery

Ciudad Real, Spain (AP) — A windmill, 52 feet high described as the biggest in Spain and one of the largest in the world, has been built in the village of Valdepenas, in the Mancha wine region. This is the first step in the reconstruction of the windmills which were given world fame through Miguel de Cervantes' classic "Don Quixote." The new windmill, with three floors, is a museum for works by the local artist Gregorio Prieto, founder of the "Association of Friend of Windmills."

To Release Prisoners

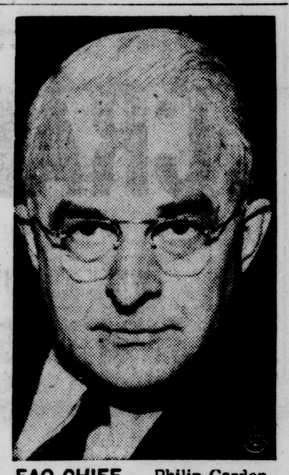
Saigon, Indochina, Dec. 21 (AP)—Communist Ho Chi-Minh's rebel government will release several hundred French and African prisoners of war for Christmas, the Vietminh Radio announced today. French sources said the rebels are holding around 5,000 French and Africans captured in the seven years of Indochina fighting.

Chapter Founder Dies

McAlester, Okla., Dec. 21 (AP)—W. Mark Sexson, 76, founder of the International Order of Rainbow for girls, died here shortly before midnight after an extended illness. Sexson organized the first girls chapter here in 1922 and has been supreme recorder since its founding.

Alexander's Tomb Sought

Alexandria, Egypt (AP) — The tomb of Alexander the Great may be found near this city following discovery of a huge marble statue which Egyptian archaeological circles believe was buried near the Macedonian conqueror. Although Alexander died in Asia, traditions say he was buried in the vicinity of Alexandria.



FAO CHIEF — Philip Cardon, 54, of Logan, Utah, is the new director general of the UN Food and Agricultural Organization because Norris E. Dodd, the former director, withdrew as a candidate. Cardon has previous experience in the Department of Agriculture and was a former U. S. Treasury Department official.

3. Tax adjustment: An overhaul of the federal tax structure already is underway with stress on removing obstacles to business investment and consumer purchasing. Administration officials made it plain budget balancing would have to step aside if it looks as though tax reduction and deficit spending would be needed to prevent economic collapse.

4. Public works: Private industry as well as state and local governments would get federal loans, tax concessions and other indirect aids in financing needed projects to avoid direct federal spending wherever possible.

However, administration officials expect the President to reassure the country that the new year will yield prosperity at or near the 1953 boom level.

Samsonville Man Hurt in Accident

Fred Ohliger, 26, of Samsonville, was injured about 3:40 a. m. Sunday when his automobile was in collision with a parked tractor trailer along the Onteora Trail one mile east of Shokan, state police reported. Ohliger, whose visible injuries were listed as leg fractures, a possible skull fracture and chest injury, was taken to Kingston Hospital, where his condition was reported this morning as "good." Troopers said Ohliger was driving west on the Trail when his 1949 automobile struck the left side of the parked truck, then crossed the highway and came to rest in a gully on the south side of the highway. The tractor-trailer was owned by the Tuscan Dairy Farms of Union, N. J., and operated by Floyd Dart, 36, of Lexington, state police reported. Trooper J. Cullen of the Kingston barracks is shown in the picture. (Anner photo)

Army Basketball Slates Major Powers at Point

The Army basketball squad has lined up an attractive schedule for the West Point field house this season.

Among the major attractions scheduled to play at the Point are Pennsylvania, Manhattan, Colgate, Syracuse, NYU, Pittsburgh and Navy.

The Navy game winds up the season on Feb. 27.

New Coach At Helm

Bob Vanatta became Army's 16th coach in 52 years when he succeeded Elmer Ripley this season. One of the outstanding young coaches of the game, Vanatta led Southwest Missouri State College to successful national small school college championships in 1952 and 1953. He has compiled a phenomenal .824 coaching mark with 150 victories and only 32 defeats.

Taking over the Cadet reins provided him with his greatest challenge. Army has been barely able to break even the past three seasons and has been unable to record a win over Navy in the last three meetings.

Three Vets Return

Three regulars are back, including Captain Bill Hannon, Ed Weaver and Dick Littlefield. Hannon led both in scoring, with 408 points, and in rebounds with 365. He was one of the national leaders in the latter department.

Mark Binstein, high scorer of the Plebe team, is counted on for lengthy service.

The rest of the schedule follows.

Jan. 6—Williams.
9—At Fordham.
13—Swarthmore.
15—At Dartmouth.
16—At Amherst.
20—Pennsylvania.
23—Manhattan.

SPORTS

By Charles J. Tiano

A couple of old pros dominated the male bowling headlines last week, but of interest to the trade was the resurgence of the distaff department.

While Charlie Manfro was pounding 691 and Harold Broskie achieved a career high of 298, the ladies toppled no less than 21 series of "500" and it took 528 to crash the Big Ten.

Broskie's 298 culminated a tremendous season for the brilliant veteran who rates a niche among Kingston's all-time Big Five. He is averaging 199 in the Hudson Valley League and around 195 in the two local major circuits.

The "minute man" (last) of bowling does not suffer in the the company of such tenpin titans as Johnny Ferraro, Randy Kelder, Fred Rice, Homer Emerick and Gil Sampson.

One of these days soon Broskie and Larry Weishaupt are going to oust two of those gentlemen. At least in this man's book.

It wasn't exactly news that Rose Schatzel paced the women's division with 597. But it was noteworthy to see Kathleen Houska crash 231 and 559. Edna Peterson fired 231-563. Bessie Lynn joined the elite group with 539. Marie Kelekian maintained her 180-plus average with a 550 smash in the Friendship League.

Before you know it, entry blanks for the KBA's annual championships will be reaching every team captain. We urge solid support of the city pinfest. Each team captain and every league should feel an obligation to support the city tournament, a non-profit enterprise. By-passing the city tournament to satisfy petty jealousies and small bowling alley politics doesn't add up. There shouldn't be any room in the sport for that sort of thing.

● The Eleventh Frame: Buzz Fazio's Stroh's Beer of Detroit won the BPAA National Team Match Game championship defeating their arch rivals, Lou Sielaff's Pfeiffer's Beer, Detroit, by 167 pins.

The Stroh team total for the 24 games was 24,351 against Pfeiffer's 24,184. Stroh's didn't cinch the match until the 9th frame of the last game when four Pfeiffer bowlers drew splits.

The champions earned the distinction of having won the title more times than any other team in the country. It was their 8th victory as against seven for Pfeiffer's in the 30 title matches since 1934.

The Stroh team includes 28-year-old Tom Hennessey, who rolled a high 213.3 average; Ed Lubanski, 206.2; Buzz Fazio, 202.2; Tony Lindeman 198.9; Lee Jouglard 195.1 and Pete Carter 186.2.

Shanghai City of Scarcity

Hong Kong, Dec. 21 (AP)—Shanghai has become a city of scarcity, a British widow, Mrs. Mary Elliott, said today on arrival by ship from Communist China. "You have to queue up by 3 a. m., to get even a few ounces of broken rice or millet," she said. "The Communists make people attend neighborhood food meetings every day in which they are instructed how to live on less." Mrs. Elliott, 53, was born in Shanghai. Her husband, Victor, a business man, died in a Communist prison ten years ago without ever having been charged. Mrs. Elliott is joining her sons here.

Chilling Weather Is East's Prospect

(By The Associated Press)

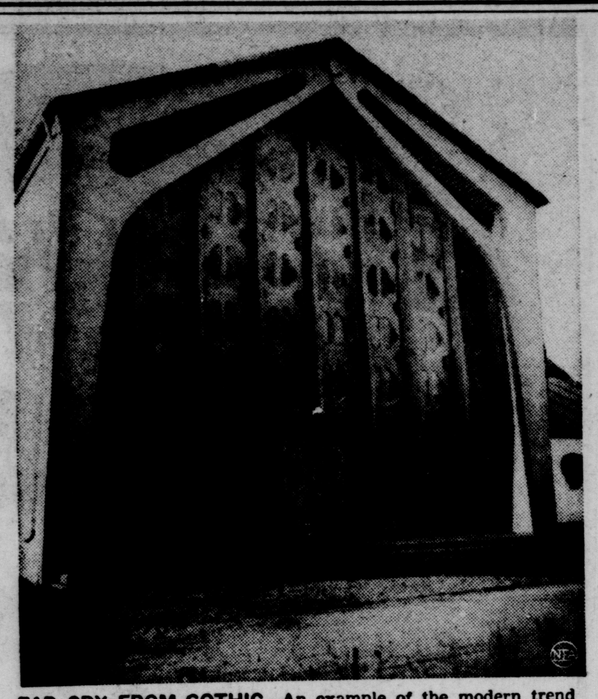
Almost all of the nation lay under a cloud cover today and much of it got rain or snow as the official beginning of winter approached.

Temperatures mostly were mild, but a chilling was in prospect before the winter solstice at 10:32 p. m. (EST).

There was light rain and drizzle from the southeastern states to Texas and northward through the Mississippi valley to the southern Great Lakes Region. Light snowfall or flurries were reported over northern New England, the northern plains and the northern Rocky mountains. The Pacific northwest had rain showers.

The expected chill moving southward out of Canada already had reached the northern plains and western Great Lakes areas. Williston, N. D., reported an overnight low of 8 degrees.

The winter solstice, considered the official beginning of the cold season in the northern hemisphere, is that moment when the sun reaches its southernmost point. It marks the shortest day in the year.



FAR CRY FROM GOTHIC—An example of the modern trend in church architecture is this new concrete church built in Cologne, Germany. Designed by Georg Maria Luneborg, the semisurrealistic structure was completed in 11 months. Only the six main pillars were made on the spot, all other parts were formed at a concrete plant and assembled at the building site. The front wall forms a huge stained-glass "window."

Adoptions Break Record

Santa Fe, N. M. (AP)—New Mexico Welfare Director Alva Simpson reports his department handled 700 petitions for adoption last year to send the number of adoptions in the state to a record high. He said the adoption rate in New Mexico has increased twice as fast as in the nation as a whole.

Reds Salute Two U. S. Left Wingers With Stalin Prizes

Moscow, Dec. 21 (AP)—The Soviets saluted American left wing novelist Howard Fast today, awarding him a $25,000 Stalin peace prize. Fast himself presented the same prize to another American winner, Negro singer Paul Robeson, in ceremonies in New York's Harlem three months ago.

The Soviet Communist party newspaper, Pravda, announced the 10 1953 awards today, the 74th anniversary of Joseph Stalin's birth.

The prizes, Communist equivalent of the Nobel awards, were established in 1949 as part of the celebration for the Soviet premier's 70th anniversary. A gold medal goes with the cash award.

Prvada hailed the author as a "courageous fighter for ideals whose writings are known over the whole world, who in an atmosphere of persecution remains true to his ideals of defending the rights of man, who represents the true progressive America which has nothing in common with the America of the reactionaries."

Calls it 'Highest Honor'

(In New York, Fast termed the prize "the highest honor that can be conferred on any person in these times." He said he hoped it would "contribute to the struggle for peace and that it may help to prove that between our country and all other countries there can be understanding, peaceful intercourse and mutual respect.")

The 1952 award to Robeson, the only other Stalin peace prize to an American, was presented to him in New York last September after the State Department refused him a passport for the trip to Moscow.

Fast, 39, is the author of The Last Frontier, Citizen Tom Paine, Freedom Road and other best-sellers. He is a native and resident of New York city.

Convicted in 1947

A frequent advocate of left wing causes, the writer was convicted in 1947 of contempt of Congress along with 10 other members of the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee The group, described by the FBI as a Communist front, refused to submit its records to the House Un-American Activities Committee.

Fast was sentenced to three months in jail and fined $300. He went to prison in June, 1950.
